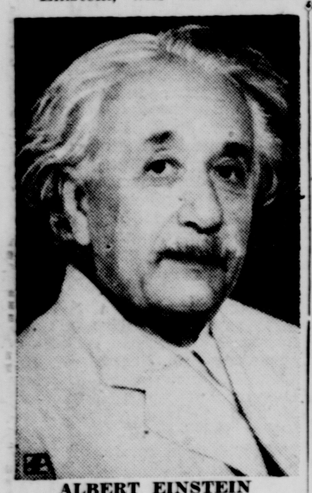
Einstein Dies; Made Possible Atomic Bomb

Nobel Prize Winner in 1921 Taken To Princeton Hospital on Friday

Princeton, N. J., April 18 (AP)—Scientist Albert Einstein died at 1:15 a. m. (EST) today at Princeton Hospital.

Einstein, who was 76, had been hospitalized Friday. The hospital said the cause of death was due to a rupture of the main artery of the body caused by hardening of the arteries.

Einstein, who had secluded himself from public contact in recent years, had been attached to the Institute for Advanced Study here.



ALBERT EINSTEIN

The shy, white-haired scholar was credited with making possible the atomic bomb by disclosing a small quantity of matter could produce vast amounts of energy.

Einstein stood as probably the foremost theoretical mathematician and physicist in the world.

As recently as 1950, he published a monumental mathematical treatise, the unified field theory. This was hailed as a daring type of mathematics which sought to describe the forces of the universe in a set of equations.

Einstein, the quiet, unpretentious wizard of mathematics and physics, spent his lifetime searching for a unified mathematical concept of the laws that govern the universe.

BORN IN ULM, Germany, March 14, 1879, of middle class Jewish parents, he was swept to international fame by the theory of relativity which he devised at the age of 26.

A revolutionary idea, it added a fourth dimension, time, to the trio—length, breadth and width—which had formed man's basic knowledge of the measurement of matter. It also astounded scientists by disputing Newton's law of gravitation.

It was Einstein's disclosure, many years ago, that a small quantity of matter could produce astronimical quantities of energy, which was so spectacularly proved when the first atomic bomb exploded.

But, the famous, white-haired scientist looked upon the A-bomb with misgivings.

IN 1945, shortly after the dropping of the bomb on Hiroshima, he commented:

Vols Make Final Plans For Parley

90 Companies Are Signed for Parade

Final plans for the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association Convention to be held here June 16 to 18 were developed at a meeting Sunday afternoon at Central Fire Station.

Meeting jointly, the convention committee of the Kingston City Volunteer Firemen and directors of the Hudson Valley Association set Saturday, June 18, at 2 p. m. as the time for the parade.

THE PARADE will form on the Strand and march to Dietz Memorial Stadium, where it will disband. Trophies will be awarded after the parade.

To date, 90 fire companies have signified their intention to participate in the parade.

The Governor Clinton Hotel was named convention headquarters. Business sessions will be held at the Elks Club.

Plans are being made for a program for the women attending the convention, probably to include a tour of points of interest in the area.

It is expected a carnival will be set up at the Spring Lake grounds during the convention.

IT WAS REPORTED here today that the Hudson Valley Association directors at a regular meeting received an invitation from Beacon to hold the 1957 convention in that city. The invitation will be referred to the convention committee for recommendation and the convention site for 1957 will be selected by vote of delegates at the June convention here. The 1956 convention site, selected last year, will be Lake George.

1,413 Got Salk In Ulster Area

A total of 1,413 Ulster county children received the Salk vaccine during the trials last year, it was announced today by Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner.

Health department personnel have completed the task of separating the names of those who received the Salk vaccine from those who received the "control" substance.

Lists of children who received the vaccine — and therefore will not be given additional injections during the first clinics here—have been distributed to the schools, and parents of children in that group will be notified by the school authorities, Dr. Hargrave said.

17 Persons Lose Lives In Mishaps

13 State Deaths Result of Traffic

Albany, April 18 (AP) — A stranded motorist hit by a car as he walked for gasoline, an ironworker who fell 100 feet from a bridge and a policeman who commandeered a motorcycle were among 17 persons who died as a result of weekend accidents in New York state.

Thirteen deaths were caused by traffic mishaps between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday. One death resulted from fire, another from drowning and two from other causes.

Abraham Finkelstein, 66, of (33 Warren street) Hudson, was struck and killed last night as he walked across the Taconic State Parkway near Route 6, Peekskill. His wife saw the accident as she sat in their car waiting for him to return with gasoline.

Lloyd M. Law, 26, of Stony Point, fell to his death Saturday from the state thruway bridge crossing the Hudson river near Tarrytown. He landed on the New York Central Railroad tracks.

LAW WAS working with 40 other men employed by the American Bridge Co. building the bridge but the others said they did not know what caused him to fall. They said they first became aware of the accident when he shouted during the plunge.

Patrolman Andrew Reynolds, 37, of Jamaica, commandeered a private motorcycle Saturday to chase a traffic violator and struck a light pole. He died at Flushing Hospital, Queens, two hours later.

The unidentified traffic violator escaped.

Other fatalities included:

NORTH ROSE — Herbert W. Finch Jr., 24, North Rose, car struck tree Saturday.

NEW YORK—Joseph May Jr., 12, the Bronx, lost grip and fell under wheel of tank truck on which he was hitching ride Saturday night.

HUDSON — James J. Melino, 18, Hudson, automobile overturned Sunday.

NEW YORK — Ralph Cianfarani, 61, apparently a hit-run victim Sunday.

MONTAUK — John Jandozitz, 56, Astoria, drowned Sunday when he fell into the Atlantic Ocean from a fishing boat eight miles off Montauk Point.

BEACON — Norman Williamson, 3, struck by parked car that rolled down a driveway after, police said, the emergency brake apparently slipped.

Bard Student Found Dead; Is Apparent Suicide

Annandale - on - Hudson, April 18 (AP)—Donald M. Johnson, a Bard College student, was found shot to death today.

No details were available immediately.

James H. Case Jr., Bard College president, described Johnson as "a very good student" but declined further comment pending an investigation by the district attorney's office.

District Atty. Raymond Barratta said the shooting was an apparent suicide.

BARRATTA SAID Johnson, 20, and another student, Arnold Warwick, spent Sunday evening drinking. He said they returned to Johnson's dormitory, that Warwick heard two shots and found Johnson wounded on the floor. He died at Northern Dutchess Health Center, Rhinebeck.

The prosecutor said a revolver was found in the room. He said Johnson was from New York city (street address not available).

Neighbors' Prayers Seen As Help to Stricken Girl

Chicago, April 18 (AP) — A young suburban couple believes the prayers of neighbors are helping their 6-year-old, brown-eyed daughter to recover from sleeping sickness.

The child, Gayle Russell, lies in a coma at Lutheran Deaconess Hospital. Eyes open, she stares at her parents but does not recognize them. She screams and cannot eat.

But she is beginning to move her arms and legs. Two weeks ago they were completely paralyzed. She was given a 50-50 chance to live. Now, the doctors say, the odds have improved.

Gayle's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Russell of Morton Grove, just north of Chicago. Russell, 29, is an engineer with Libby, McNeil and Libby, a food processing firm. His wife is 28.

Russell said last night Gayle's improvement seemed to coincide with a call for prayers issued by spiritual leaders of three Catholic churches, three Jewish temples and several Protestant churches in Morton Grove and three neighboring communities.

Neighbors heard of Gayle's illness and reported it to their pastors. Several pastors asked their congregations a week ago to pray for Gayle's recovery. Others mentioned the child in prayers at church services last week and again yesterday.

The Skokie News, a neighborhood newspaper, said last week, "The entire community continues to pray for Gayle."

The Russells themselves are Catholics.

"I think she's getting better," Russell said. "I think the prayers of all those people are helping her."

He said his wife agreed the prayers were helping. Mrs. Russell spends her days in Gayle's room at the hospital, praying and watching over the child. Mrs. Russell's mother is caring for Russell's three other daughters, aged 2 to 8.

Gayle has been in the hospital six weeks now. She entered for an appendectomy. But two weeks after the operation she developed an ailment doctors diagnosed as encephalitis, commonly called sleeping sickness.

Buildup Of Reds Is Told

Dulles Says Move Has Implications

Augusta, Ga., April 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower has received intelligence information that the Chinese Communists are engaged in "an extensive buildup" of Red airpower opposite Formosa, which the U. S. is committed to defend.

Announcing this here yesterday after a conference with the President, Secretary of State Dulles told newsmen the buildup has "grave implications." He described it as:

1. "More intense and more broad in its scope" than the United States had been aware of until a few days ago.

2. A buildup which "indicates a higher degree of capability" on the part of the Communists to launch an attack "than we had been aware of a few weeks ago."

In a formal statement Dulles said:

"IN RELATION to China, we discussed the grave implications of an extensive buildup, now in progress, by the Chinese Communists of offensive airpower on the China mainland opposite Formosa."

The secretary's remarks and his prepared statement, which was approved by Eisenhower, stirred new interest in a prediction attributed last month to Adm. Robert B. Carney that the Reds would be capable of launching an assault on the Chinese Nationalist Matsu Islands by April 15.

The prediction that the Communists would be set for an attack on Quemoy, another offshore island, about May 15 was also attributed to Carney.

SOME NEWSMEN who attended a background briefing by Carney, chief of naval operations, said he predicted the Reds probably would lanuch an assault in the Formosa Strait by mid-April. Others agreed with testimony Carney later gave a Senate subcommittee: That he made no such prediction but had spoken only of Communist capabilities.

Dulles conferred with Eisenhower a day after Adm. Felix B. Stump, U. S. commander in chief in the Pacific, discussed the Formosa Strait situation with the President.

Girl's Body Found

Crestview, Fla., April 18 (AP)—The body of a high school girl of 17 who had been missing four days was found face down in a wooded area about three miles from this northwest Florida town yesterday. Sheriff Aubrey McDonald said Margie Paul of Paxton, about 25 miles north of Crestview, had been shot three times through the head with a .22-caliber pistol.

Bituminous Plant Sold to Lansdell

Sale of the Ulster Bituminous Distributors, Inc., plant and business on the Onteora Trail to The Lansdell Company of 49 Teller street, Kingston, was confirmed by Austin Boyd, Jr., Kingston manager for the Lansdell Company, Saturday.

Both companies were engaged in the sale and application of bituminous road materials. The Lansdell Company in addition to the Kingston plant also operates several other plants in New York, New Jersey and Rhode Island. Included in the sale was the property, 90,000 gallon bulk storage tanks and other equipment of the Ulster Bituminous Distributors, Inc., located between the U & D railroad tracks and the Onteora Trail west of Kingston.

THE LANSDELL Company has operated in this locality for a number of years and has a total of 100,000 gallon bulk storage at its Teller street plant. The plant on the Onteora Trail will be maintained at least temporarily, Boyd said, although definite plans for the future have not been fully developed. Possession of the property and equipment of the Ulster Bituminous concern was taken last week when negotiations for the sale were completed.

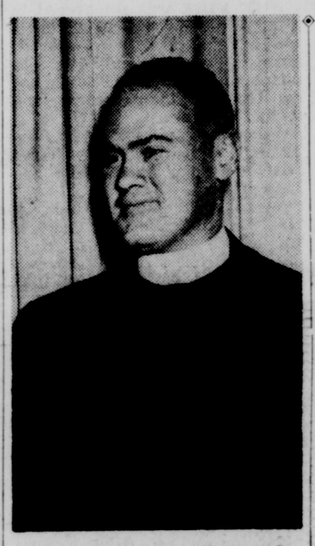
Father Simmons Goes To Marlborough Parish



REV. JOHN D. SIMMONS

The Rev. John D. Simmons, assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Church for the past 18 years, has been assigned to St. Mary's Church in Marlborough as parish administrator and on Sunday officiated at Masses in that parish. Father Simmons has been assigned to the Marlborough parish due to the illness of the Rev. James F. Hanley who is a patient at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Father Hanley is expected to return home next week.

In 1954 Father Hanley celebrated his 60th anniversary in the priesthood. He has been at Marlborough for 42 years and previously had been at St. Mary's Church in this city where he was well known.

FATHER SIMMONS in 1953 celebrated the 25th anniversary of his service in the priesthood, 18 years of which he spent at St. Joseph's church in this city. In addition to officiating at the church in Marlborough, the parish priest at Marlborough also has charge of services at the two mission churches in Milton and Roseton.

During his association with St. Joseph's church in this city, Father Simmons, together with the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of the Old First Reformed Church, began the movement to have stores in the business section of the city close between noon and three o'clock on Good Friday so that employes and others might attend church services. That program has been in effect for the past three years. Father Simmons was the speaker recently at one of the Lenten services at the Old First Reformed Church.

Varied Weekend Thefts Reported

Thefts reported to the police over the weekend and today ranged from petty burglaries, stolen cars, and entry of uptown offices to the taking of a diver's helmet.

Police were notified this morning that offices in the Burgevin building, Fair and Main streets, were entered but only small cash was reported missing.

The offices shared by Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who is now on vacation in Florida, and County Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., that of the New York city water department and quarters of the Royal Liverpool Insurance Group, were reported entered.

LOCKS ON the office doors were apparently manipulated with a small tool or implement, one source said.

Edward Reilly, of 37 Stuyvesant street, notified police at 8:35 p. m., Sunday that his car had been stolen from VanVliet's service station grounds, Broadway and Hoffman street, between 5:30 and 8:30 p. m. Police had been notified at 7:03 p. m., that the car was seen driving recklessly about the city.

The car of Arthur Dreher, 152 Tremper avenue, reported stolen from near his house Saturday morning, was recovered Sunday at Monson, Mass.

LOCAL POLICE were also notified by the Paramus, N. J., police at 11 a. m., Sunday that

GOP Hits Back At Truman Talk

Washington, April 18 (AP) — Former President Truman's accusation that the Eisenhower administration is guilty of political trickery with serious foreign and domestic issues brought heated retorts yesterday from GOP ranks.

"Neither vicious personal attacks on the President nor the ridiculous efforts to undermine his outstanding record in office will succeed," Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said.

TRUMAN DID not mention Eisenhower by name, but delivered a blistering attack on his administration Saturday night at a big Democratic dinner honoring House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

In a "give 'em hell" speech, he charged the Eisenhower Administration with bad management, blunders and with trying "political tricks with the grave and serious issues of both foreign and domestic policies."

Adlai Stevenson, the former Illinois governor who lost to Eisenhower in 1952, rivalled Rayburn and Truman in applause at the $100-a-plate dinner for the speaker.

Truman, lauding Rayburn as "a great American," asked his hearers not to "forget how soundly and securely we have built this country so that it has even been able to withstand some pretty bad management of the country during the last two years."

Pope's Arm Improving

Vatican City, April 18 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, troubled by a sore right shoulder for several weeks, is restricting the use of his right arm as much as possible. He can use the arm, however, and doctors have described the rheumatic condition as "not at all serious." They have been treating it frequently with heat rays. The latest treatment was Saturday. The Pope's general condition has been reported as steadily improving following his collapse last Dec. 2.

Theft Is Reported At Barn Sunday

The theft of an estimated $20 in cash from coin machines at The Barn, nightclub on the Onteora Trail just outside the city line, was reported early Sunday morning.

County Investigator Arthur H. Brown of the sheriff's office said entry into the building was made through a rear window sometime between 3:20 and 8:30 a. m. Sunday.

The money was taken from a juke box and a coin-operated Shuffle board, according to the report.

Harriman Signs New Law Extending Daylight Time

Albany, April 18 (AP)—Daylight Saving Time will be mandatory throughout New York state this year—for the first time—and will run a month longer.

Statewide "fast time," starting next Sunday, is required under a bill signed by Gov. Harriman.

The bill requires that all communities turn their clocks ahead one hour on the last Sunday in April, and keep them that way until the last Sunday in October. Sen. Pliny Williamson, Scarsdale Republican, was the sponsor.

The old law allowed cities, towns and villages to decide individually whether they would adopt daylight time. The practice among those that did was to start the last Sunday in April and close on the last Sunday in September.

The April-October schedule, however, was adopted by New York city last month. It had been in effect in some other parts of the country in previous years.

Gov. Harriman declared the new law would "enrich our people's lives." In a statement he said the extra hour of sunshine for the additional month would be a "boon" to the working man, who, he said, would have that much more daylight time to spend with his family.

The governor added that the measure would achieve "chronometric consistency" within the state. Williamson had said the intent of the legislation was to eliminate time conflicts with neighboring states and within New York itself.

The governor's office announced last night that he had signed the bill Friday.

Among other bills signed Friday and announced by Harriman's office over the weekend was a measure designed to curb fraud in television advertising.

The new law makes it a misdemeanor for advertisers to give false information to TV stations when arranging for advertisement of products. Violators will be subject to fines of up to $500, jail sentences of up to a year, or both.

Danger Is Seen for All Nations

Iraq Head Given Long Applause

Bandung, Indonesia, April 18 (AP) — Iraq's Foreign Minister Fadhil Jamali denounced international communism before the Asian-African conference today and drew prolonged applause from many of the 29 delegations.

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai and others from Peiping sat with set faces as Jamali charged "international communism is a materialistic religion that breeds hatred among classes and peoples." Prime Minister Nehru's Indian delegation also heard out the speech in silence.

"COMMUNISM is a new form of colonialism much more dangerous to us than the old colonialism," declared Jamali, whose Arab country is linked indirectly with the North Atlantic powers through an alliance with Turkey. "No nation on earth is free from its effects."

Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, which has a mutual aid treaty with the United States, walked across the conference room, shook hands with Jamali and congratulated Jamali at the end of the speech.

Chief delegates were delivering 15-minute policy statements in a program which it appeared would go into tomorrow.

Indonesian President Soekarno opened the conference with a declaration that the population of Asia and Africa, totaling more than a billion, "can inject the voice of reason into world affairs."

THE INAUGURAL session of the week-long meeting—first of its kind—was a mass of vivid colors as the 400 delegates in their contrasting national costumes circulated about the white-walled, fluorescent-lit ballroom of the Dutch Club.

Another major speaker at the opening public session was Indonesian Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo, who was elected conference chairman unanimously. He was nominated by Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and seconded by Red China's Chou En-lai, Jordan's foreign minister Sayyed Wahid-Salah and Philippine Delegate Carlos P. Romulo.

In his speech accepting the chairmanship, Sastroamidjojo introduced three subjects likely to loom large in the conference discussions—control of nuclear weapons, the five principles of coexistence first formulated by Nehru and espoused by Chou and Burmese Premier U Nu, and the admission of Asian-African countries including Communist China into the United Nations.

THE ACTING leader for Iran, Ambassador Jalal Abdeh, provided further fireworks. He attacked what he called "the most subversive aggression of our time, saying "they have found a new way to revive colonialism."

Abdeh did not name communism directly, but said "we have learned to fight this new colonialism under any disguise."

Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser steered clear of the east-west conflict. He said Egypt and the Arab countries still have unshaken faith in the United Nations, "although the Arab countries were among those most disillusioned in the failure of this organization to act in accordance with human rights, especially with regard to the countries of North Africa and Palestine."

Ceremonies Will Mark Anniversary Of Fluoridation

Albany, April 17 — The New York State Department of Health will observe the 10th anniversary of its Newburgh-Kingston fluoridation study with ceremonies to be held in Newburgh April 21st.

Dental and medical authorities and state and local officials will take part in the observance. Although the final results of the study will not be known until later in the year, the most recently analyzed finding will be presented.

The study was undertaken to determine the effects of water fluoridation in reducing dental decay. Fluorides were added to the drinking water in Newburgh

1,413 Got Salk In Ulster Area

A total of 1,413 Ulster county children received the Salk vaccine during the trials last year, it was announced today by Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner.

Health department personnel have completed the task of separating the names of those who received the Salk vaccine from those who received the "control" substance.

Lists of children who received the vaccine — and therefore will not be given additional injections during the first clinics here—have been distributed to the schools, and parents of children in that group will be notified by the school authorities, Dr. Hargrave said.

17 Persons Lose Lives In Mishaps

13 State Deaths Result of Traffic

Albany, April 18 (AP) — A stranded motorist hit by a car as he walked for gasoline, an ironworker who fell 100 feet from a bridge and a policeman who commandeered a motorcycle were among 17 persons who died as a result of weekend accidents in New York state.

Thirteen deaths were caused by traffic mishaps between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday. One death resulted from fire, another from drowning and two from other causes.

Abraham Finkelstein, 66, of (33 Warren street) Hudson, was struck and killed last night as he walked across the Taconic State Parkway near Route 6, Peekskill. His wife saw the accident as she sat in their car waiting for him to return with gasoline.

Lloyd M. Law, 26, of Stony Point, fell to his death Saturday from the state thruway bridge crossing the Hudson river near Tarrytown. He landed on the New York Central Railroad tracks.

LAW WAS working with 40 other men employed by the American Bridge Co. building the bridge but the others said they did not know what caused him to fall. They said they first became aware of the accident when he shouted during the plunge.

Patrolman Andrew Reynolds, 37, of Jamaica, commandeered a private motorcycle Saturday to chase a traffic violator and struck a light pole. He died at Flushing Hospital, Queens, two hours later.

The unidentified traffic violator escaped.

Other fatalities included:

Buildup Of Reds Is Told

Dulles Says Move Has Implications

Augusta, Ga., April 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower has received intelligence information that the Chinese Communists are engaged in "an extensive buildup" of Red airpower opposite Formosa, which the U. S. is committed to defend.

Announcing this here yesterday after a conference with the President, Secretary of State Dulles told newsmen the buildup has "grave implications." He described it as:

1. "More intense and more broad in its scope" than the United States had been aware of until a few days ago.

2. A buildup which "indicates a higher degree of capability" on the part of the Communists to launch an attack "than we had been aware of a few weeks ago."

In a formal statement Dulles said:

"IN RELATION to China, we discussed the grave implications of an extensive buildup, now in progress, by the Chinese Communists of offensive airpower on the China mainland opposite Formosa."

The secretary's remarks and his prepared statement, which was approved by Eisenhower, stirred new interest in a prediction attributed last month to Adm. Robert B. Carney that the Reds would be capable of launching an assault on the Chinese Nationalist Matsu Islands by April 15.

The prediction that the Communists would be set for an attack on Quemoy, another offshore island, about May 15 was also attributed to Carney.

SOME NEWSMEN who attended a background briefing by Carney, chief of naval operations, said he predicted the Reds probably would lanuch an assault in the Formosa Strait by mid-April. Others agreed with testimony Carney later gave a Senate subcommittee: That he made no such prediction but had spoken only of Communist capabilities.

Dulles conferred with Eisenhower a day after Adm. Felix B. Stump, U. S. commander in chief in the Pacific, discussed the Formosa Strait situation with the President.

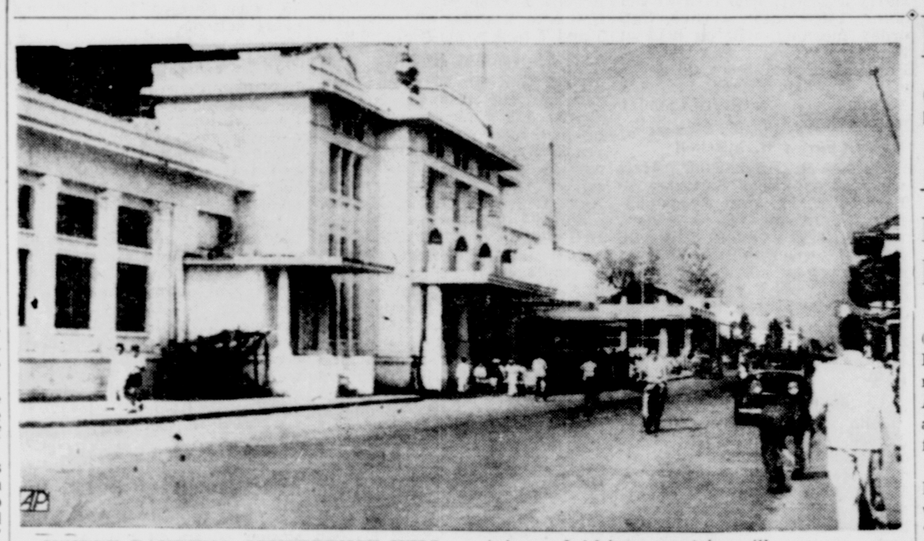
Bituminous Plant Sold to Lansdell

Sale of the Ulster Bituminous Distributors, Inc., plant and business on the Onteora Trail to The Lansdell Company of 49 Teller street, Kingston, was confirmed by Austin Boyd, Jr., Kingston manager for the Lansdell Company, Saturday.

Both companies were engaged in the sale and application of bituminous road materials. The Lansdell Company in addition to the Kingston plant also operates several other plants in New York, New Jersey and Rhode Island. Included in the sale was the property, 90,000 gallon bulk storage tanks and other equipment of the Ulster Bituminous Distributors, Inc., located between the U & D railroad tracks and the Onteora Trail west of Kingston.

THE LANSDELL Company has operated in this locality for a number of years and has a total of 100,000 gallon bulk storage at its Teller street plant. The plant on the Onteora Trail will be maintained at least temporarily, Boyd said, although definite plans for the future have not been fully developed. Possession of the property and equipment of the Ulster Bituminous concern was taken last week when negotiations for the sale were completed.

Communism Denounced As Conference Begins



WHERE BANDUNG CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD — This is the Independence House, formerly Concordia Building, in Bandung, Indonesia, where more than 600 delegates from 29 Asian and African countries will open an unprecedented conference (Apr. 18). The meetings are scheduled to continue to Apr. 24. (AP Wirephoto).

Danger Is Seen for All Nations

Iraq Head Given Long Applause

Bandung, Indonesia, April 18 (AP) — Iraq's Foreign Minister Fadhil Jamali denounced international communism before the Asian-African conference today and drew prolonged applause from many of the 29 delegations.

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai and others from Peiping sat with set faces as Jamali charged "international communism is a materialistic religion that breeds hatred among classes and peoples." Prime Minister Nehru's Indian delegation also heard out the speech in silence.

"COMMUNISM is a new form of colonialism much more dangerous to us than the old colonialism," declared Jamali, whose Arab country is linked indirectly with the North Atlantic powers through an alliance with Turkey. "No nation on earth is free from its effects."

Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, which has a mutual aid treaty with the United States, walked across the conference room, shook hands with Jamali and congratulated Jamali at the end of the speech.

Chief delegates were delivering 15-minute policy statements in a program which it appeared would go into tomorrow.

Indonesian President Soekarno opened the conference with a declaration that the population of Asia and Africa, totaling more than a billion, "can inject the voice of reason into world affairs."

THE INAUGURAL session of the week-long meeting—first of its kind—was a mass of vivid colors as the 400 delegates in their contrasting national costumes circulated about the white-walled, fluorescent-lit ballroom of the Dutch Club.

Another major speaker at the opening public session was Indonesian Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo, who was elected conference chairman unanimously. He was nominated by Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and seconded by Red China's Chou En-lai, Jordan's foreign minister Sayyed Wahid-Salah and Philippine Delegate Carlos P. Romulo.

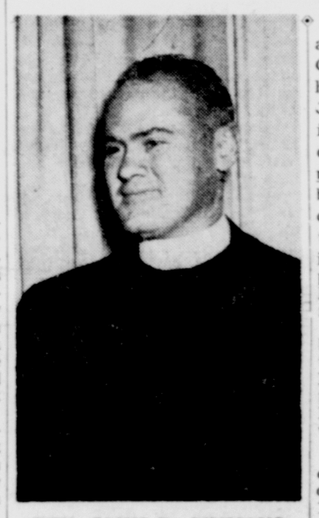
In his speech accepting the chairmanship, Sastroamidjojo introduced three subjects likely to loom large in the conference discussions—control of nuclear weapons, the five principles of coexistence first formulated by Nehru and espoused by Chou and Burmese Premier U Nu, and the admission of Asian-African countries including Communist China into the United Nations.

THE ACTING leader for Iran, Ambassador Jalal Abdeh, provided further fireworks. He attacked what he called "the most subversive aggression of our time, saying "they have found a new way to revive colonialism."

Abdeh did not name communism directly, but said "we have learned to fight this new colonialism under any disguise."

Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser steered clear of the east-west conflict. He said Egypt and the Arab countries still have unshaken faith in the United Nations, "although the Arab countries were among those most disillusioned in the failure of this organization to act in accordance with human rights, especially with regard to the countries of North Africa and Palestine."

Father Simmons Goes To Marlborough Parish



REV. JOHN D. SIMMONS

The Rev. John D. Simmons, assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Church for the past 18 years, has been assigned to St. Mary's Church in Marlborough as parish administrator and on Sunday officiated at Masses in that parish. Father Simmons has been assigned to the Marlborough parish due to the illness of the Rev. James F. Hanley who is a patient at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh. Father Hanley is expected to return home next week.

In 1954 Father Hanley celebrated his 60th anniversary in the priesthood. He has been at Marlborough for 42 years and previously had been at St. Mary's Church in this city where he was well known.

FATHER SIMMONS in 1953 celebrated the 25th anniversary of his service in the priesthood, 18 years of which he spent at St. Joseph's church in this city. In addition to officiating at the church in Marlborough, the parish priest at Marlborough also has charge of services at the two mission churches in Milton and Roseton.

During his association with St. Joseph's church in this city, Father Simmons, together with the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of the Old First Reformed Church, began the movement to have stores in the business section of the city close between noon and three o'clock on Good Friday so that employes and others might attend church services. That program has been in effect for the past three years. Father Simmons was the speaker recently at one of the Lenten services at the Old First Reformed Church.

The offices shared by Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who is now on vacation in Florida, and County Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., that of the New York city water department and quarters of the Royal Liverpool Insurance Group, were reported entered.

GOP Hits Back At Truman Talk

Washington, April 18 (AP) — Former President Truman's accusation that the Eisenhower administration is guilty of political trickery with serious foreign and domestic issues brought heated retorts yesterday from GOP ranks.

"Neither vicious personal attacks on the President nor the ridiculous efforts to undermine his outstanding record in office will succeed," Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said.

TRUMAN DID not mention Eisenhower by name, but delivered a blistering attack on his administration Saturday night at a big Democratic dinner honoring House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

In a "give 'em hell" speech, he charged the Eisenhower Administration with bad management, blunders and with trying "political tricks with the grave and serious issues of both foreign and domestic policies."

Adlai Stevenson, the former Illinois governor who lost to Eisenhower in 1952, rivalled Rayburn and Truman in applause at the $100-a-plate dinner for the speaker.

Truman, lauding Rayburn as "a great American," asked his hearers not to "forget how soundly and securely we have built this country so that it has even been able to withstand some pretty bad management of the country during the last two years."

Theft Is Reported At Barn Sunday

The theft of an estimated $20 in cash from coin machines at The Barn, nightclub on the Onteora Trail just outside the city line, was reported early Sunday morning.

The money was taken from a juke box and a coin-operated Shuffle board, according to the report.

Harriman Signs New Law Extending Daylight Time

Albany, April 18 (AP)—Daylight Saving Time will be mandatory throughout New York state this year—for the first time—and will run a month longer.

The bill requires that all communities turn their clocks ahead one hour on the last Sunday in April, and keep them that way until the last Sunday in October. Sen. Pliny Williamson, Scarsdale Republican, was the sponsor.

The old law allowed cities, towns and villages to decide individually whether they would adopt daylight time. The practice among those that did was to start the last Sunday in April and close on the last Sunday in September.

The April-October schedule, however, was adopted by New York city last month. It had been in effect in some other parts of the country in previous years.

Gov. Harriman declared the new law would "enrich our people's lives." In a statement he said the extra hour of sunshine for the additional month would be a "boon" to the working man, who, he said, would have that much more daylight time to spend with his family.

The governor added that the measure would achieve "chronometric consistency" within the state. Williamson had said the intent of the legislation was to eliminate time conflicts with neighboring states and within New York itself.

The governor's office announced last night that he had signed the bill Friday.

Among other bills signed Friday and announced by Harriman's office over the weekend was a measure designed to curb fraud in television advertising.

The new law makes it a misdemeanor for advertisers to give false information to TV stations when arranging for advertisement of products. Violators will be subject to fines of up to $500, jail sentences of up to a year, or both.

Policeman Shoots Wife in Struggle

New York, April 18 (AP)—The wife of a policeman was seriously wounded today while struggling with her husband for possession of his service revolver after she threatened suicide last night, police reported.

Mrs. Margaret Bell, 32, was shot in the right temple in the kitchen of their Manhattan home. She was taken to Beth David Hospital, where she was listed in fair condition after an operation.

Police department records disclosed that her husband, Chester Bell, 24, a traffic patrolman, was reprimanded after his first wife, Rosemary, mother of three of his children, was accidentally killed while he was loading his service revolver 10 years ago. The reprimand was for failing to take proper safeguards while loading the weapon.

The present Mrs. Bell is the mother of two.

POLICE SAID she made the suicide threat during an argument with her 34-year-old husband. He attempted to wrest the gun from her after she snatched it from the top of a refrigerator, and one shot was fired, police said.

The patrolman and his sister-in-law, Miss Joan Rogers, who lives with the Bells and was in the apartment at the time of the shooting, were released by police after questioning.

Police said Bell, seeking his daughter, Rosemary, 11, went to the Woodside, Queens, home of a former brother-in-law after working an 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. tour of duty yesterday.

When he found no one there, he returned home and the argument with his wife ensued.

Youths Arrested Following Fight

Four youths were arrested after sheriff's deputies were called to the Spring Lake Roller Rink on Lucas avenue extension Sunday night to break up a fist fight.

Anthony Marrelli, proprietor of the skating rink, summoned sheriff's men about 10 p. m. Sunday, reporting that two young men he had ejected from the rink had begun a fist fight outside the building, and that other skaters had gone out to watch the fight, which was creating a disturbance, according to the sheriff's office report.

Charged with disorderly conduct on complaint of Marrelli were James C. Playford, 17, of 166 East Chester street; Raymond Millwater, 17, of Brooklyn, and Donald Lee, 21, of 137 Clinton avenue. A younger boy, 15, was paroled for children's court action.

THE THREE oldest defendants were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold E. Macholdt of the town of Ulster. Pleas of innocent were entered and the two 17-year-olds were paroled in the custody of adults, and Lee was released on $25 bail, all for hearings this afternoon before Justice Macholdt.

Lee and Playford were the two whom Marrelli charged with getting into an argument inside the rink and later starting a fight outside the building, according to Deputy Thomas Mayone. Millwater and the 15-year-old boy were accused of creating a disturbance while watching the fight. The arrests were made by Deputies Mayone and George Bynner.

Firemen Answer Weekend Calls

An apparent flash fire or explosion of an oil unit at 73-75 Gage street caused damage to floor timbers and flooring Saturday.

Firemen reported parts of the oil unit and oil scattered over the floor and the flames were first wetted down by use of a garden hose before arrival of firemen. Men and equipment from Central station and Wicks Engine Company responded.

THE FIRE was discovered by Mrs. A. E. Baxter shortly after the oil unit had been started, firemen said. She called a telephone operator who relayed the call to fire headquarters at 11:40 a. m.

A call at 12:50 a. m., today to Hasbrouck avenue near 408, was for a fire in a car owned by James Becker, of 49 Foxhall avenue. The blaze was apparently due to a short circuit in the car which had been left parked on Becker's garage property, firemen said.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 18 (AP)—Defense stocks, especially the aircrafts, were buoyant today in a higher market.

Key stocks posted gains going to around 3 points in the early afternoon. Losses in significant areas came to between 1 and 2 points at the outside.

Business was at a good pace near Friday's total of 3,180,000 shares.

Back of the buying attention being paid to the aircrafts and similar securities was the statement by Secretary of State Dulles underlining the Red Chinese buildup of airpower opposite Formosa.

to bring the concentration to the desired level of one part of fluoride for every million parts of water. The water in the city of Kingston was kept fluoride free.

In addition to annual dental examinations, the children in both cities have undergone intensive physical examinations as well as laboratory and bone X-ray examinations. The study was initiated and directed by Dr. David B. Ast, director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Dental Health.

Although the Kingston-Newburgh project was set up as a ten year study, the fluoridation proved so effective in reducing dental decay that the State Health Department adopted its official recommendation of fluoridation after the study had been in effect only six years. At that time, State Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe said the benefits of water fluoridation had been so marked that he recommended communities undertake water fluoridation if the Department's control measures could be applied. At present, 30 communities in upstate New York with approximately 1,500,000 residents are now receiving fluoridated water.

THE APRIL 21 ceremonies will begin at 9:30 a. m., when members of the Health Department's Technical Advisory Committees on Fluoridation visit the schools to observe the dental conditions of approximately 200 children. This will be followed by a visit to the water treatment plant.

A luncheon meeting will be held at the Palantine Hotel in Newburgh at 12 o'clock. At this meeting local officials from both Newburgh and Kingston as well as representatives of the medical and dental profession will be present.

Speakers at the luncheon meeting will include Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, first Deputy Commissioner of the New York State Department of Health; Dr. Edward R. Schlesinger, Associate Director of the Division of Medical Services, New York State Department of Health, and Dr. David B. Ast, Director of the Bureau of Dental Health, New York State Department of Health.

Einstein Dies

not a boon to mankind, but a menace."

He saw one hope, however, that "it may intimidate the human race to bring order into its international affairs, which, without pressure of fear, it undoubtedly would not do."

A theoretical physicist, the tools of his trade were a fountain pen and a pad of paper.

Though few people understood Einstein's complex theories, his work is one of the important bases of today's electronic and television industries, and the great industrial developments which rely partly on the laws of atomic mass and energy.

HE RECEIVED the Nobel prize in physics in 1921 and the world heaped honors and adulation upon the modest scientist, who pleaded:

"Let every man be respected as an individual and no man idolized. It is an irony of fate that I myself have been the recipient of excessive admiration and respect from my fellows through no fault of my own."

A professor emeritus of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, Einstein spent the last years of his life in the university community.

He came to Princeton as a lifetime member of the institute in 1933, a voluntary exile from his native Germany, where the Nazis listed him as "an enemy of the state."

Carney Sees No Quick End to 'A' War

Kansas City, Mo., April 18 (AP)—Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, said today he does not subscribe to the belief that in event of an atomic war "it would be all over in a few minutes."

In an address prepared for the armed forces council here, Carney declared:

"I do not believe this is true no matter how terrible the destruction might be. I say this because I do not believe that tough people, on either side, are likely to give up as long as they have anything left to fight with. For that reason the possibility of a dragged-out conflict must be reckoned with."

POLICE WERE notified Saturday that The Beacon Co. building, 519 Broadway, had been entered and small amounts of cash were taken from Coca-Cola and candy machines, and from the office. A spokesman for the company said no indication of forced entrance into the building was found.

Byrnes Honored

Aiken, S. C., April 18 (AP)—The town where James F. Byrnes began his career 47 years ago honored the one-time congressman, Supreme Court justice, war mobilizer, secretary of state, and governor of South Carolina with a testimonial dinner Saturday night. Approximately 800 people crowded the high school gymnasium and heard a succession of speakers laud Byrnes. U. S. Sen. Strom Thurmond, who preceded Byrnes as governor, was toastmaster. The speakers included Bernard Baruch, New York financier who is a South Carolina native. President Eisenhower, whom life-long Democrat Byrnes supported in 1952 against the Democratic presidential nominee, sent a telegram praising Byrnes as a "great American."

Shad Haul Small; Outlook Better

Fishermen met with only small hauls of shad off Kingston Point again over the weekend, but it is expected that the fish will be more plentiful in the mid-Hudson area before the end of the week.

A catch of six by Eugene VanSteenburgh, of 190 Broadway, was the biggest reported, to date. Frank Parslow, of North street, reported netting only three in two hauls, and other reports indicated scattered catches of only one or two in a drift.

Policeman Shoots Wife in Struggle

New York, April 18 (AP)—The wife of a policeman was seriously wounded today while struggling with her husband for possession of his service revolver after she threatened suicide last night, police reported.

Mrs. Margaret Bell, 32, was shot in the right temple in the kitchen of their Manhattan home. She was taken to Beth David Hospital, where she was listed in fair condition after an operation.

Police department records disclosed that her husband, Chester Bell, 24, a traffic patrolman, was reprimanded after his first wife, Rosemary, mother of three of his children, was accidentally killed while he was loading his service revolver 10 years ago. The reprimand was for failing to take proper safeguards while loading the weapon.

The present Mrs. Bell is the mother of two.

POLICE SAID she made the suicide threat during an argument with her 34-year-old husband. He attempted to wrest the gun from her after she snatched it from the top of a refrigerator, and one shot was fired, police said.

The patrolman and his sister-in-law, Miss Joan Rogers, who lives with the Bells and was in the apartment at the time of the shooting, were released by police after questioning.

Police said Bell, seeking his daughter, Rosemary, 11, went to the Woodside, Queens, home of a former brother-in-law after working an 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. tour of duty yesterday.

When he found no one there, he returned home and the argument with his wife ensued.

Byrnes Honored

Aiken, S. C., April 18 (AP)—The town where James F. Byrnes began his career 47 years ago honored the one-time congressman, Supreme Court justice, war mobilizer, secretary of state, and governor of South Carolina with a testimonial dinner Saturday night. Approximately 800 people crowded the high school gymnasium and heard a succession of speakers laud Byrnes. U. S. Sen. Strom Thurmond, who preceded Byrnes as governor, was toastmaster. Shad Haul Small; Outlook Better

Fishermen met with only small hauls of shad off Kingston Point again over the weekend, but it is expected that the fish will be more plentiful in the mid-Hudson area before the end of the week.

A catch of six by Eugene VanSteenburgh, of 190 Broadway, was the biggest reported, to date. Frank Parslow, of North street, reported netting only three in two hauls, and other reports indicated scattered catches of only one or two in a drift.

Youths Arrested Following Fight

Four youths were arrested after sheriff's deputies were called to the Spring Lake Roller Rink on Lucas avenue extension Sunday night to break up a fist fight.

Anthony Marrelli, proprietor of the skating rink, summoned sheriff's men about 10 p. m. Sunday, reporting that two young men he had ejected from the rink had begun a fist fight outside the building, and that other skaters had gone out to watch the fight, which was creating a disturbance, according to the sheriff's office report.

Charged with disorderly conduct on complaint of Marrelli were James C. Playford, 17, of 166 East Chester street; Raymond Millwater, 17, of Brooklyn, and Donald Lee, 21, of 137 Clinton avenue. A younger boy, 15, was paroled for children's court action.

THE THREE oldest defendants were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold E. Macholdt of the town of Ulster. Pleas of innocent were entered and the two 17-year-olds were paroled in the custody of adults, and Lee was released on $25 bail, all for hearings this afternoon before Justice Macholdt.

Lee and Playford were the two whom Marrelli charged with getting into an argument inside the rink and later starting a fight outside the building, according to Deputy Thomas Mayone. Millwater and the 15-year-old boy were accused of creating a disturbance while watching the fight. The arrests were made by Deputies Mayone and George Bynner.

Firemen Answer Weekend Calls

An apparent flash fire or explosion of an oil unit at 73-75 Gage street caused damage to floor timbers and flooring Saturday.

Firemen reported parts of the oil unit and oil scattered over the floor and the flames were first wetted down by use of a garden hose before arrival of firemen. Men and equipment from Central station and Wicks Engine Company responded.

THE FIRE was discovered by Mrs. A. E. Baxter shortly after the oil unit had been started, firemen said. She called a telephone operator who relayed the call to fire headquarters at 11:40 a. m.

A call at 12:50 a. m., today to Hasbrouck avenue near 408, was for a fire in a car owned by James Becker, of 49 Foxhall avenue. The blaze was apparently due to a short circuit in the car which had been left parked on Becker's garage property, firemen said.

'Stunt Man' Arrested

Trumbull, Conn., April 18 (AP)—Ever see a back seat driver actually operate an automobile? Ruzicka, 18, an East Haddam High School senior. The state trooper said the youth was standing in the rear seat of a convertible, leaning over with his hands on the wheel. Four other pupils were in the car headed for New York city on a senior class trip.

Snakey Co-Pilot

Jackson, Tenn., April 18 (AP)—Just as Lt. Harry Scott of Jackson climbed to 1,500 feet for a 500-mile cross-country flight, a snake stuck his head out of the instrument panel. "I didn't ask his pedigree," said Scott. "At 1,500 feet snakes are snakes to me." Scott and his companion, Sgt. Bedford Lasley, were back on the ground five minutes after takeoff. Guardsmen had to take the instrument panel out to remove the snake, a 42-inch chicken snake. They killed it.

Parliament also confirmed Nagy's ouster. Istvan Dobi, president of the presidential council, announced he had failed to carry out his functions sufficiently.

Nagy was not present.

OFFICERS Gilbert Gray and Hydrect Armstrong reported at 2:35 a. m., that Hymes was driving north on Broadway when the truck "veered to the left side of the street," struck the parked car of Foo Eng, 17 Broadway, and pushed it over the curb on the sidewalk in front of The Freeman building.

Hymes was arrested by Officer Peter Camp on the charge of driving while intoxicated and by Officer Gray for resisting arrest. Police said the defendant had a "combative attitude."

to bring the concentration to the desired level of one part of fluoride for every million parts of water. The water in the city of Kingston was kept fluoride free.

In addition to annual dental examinations, the children in both cities have undergone intensive physical examinations as well as laboratory and bone X-ray examinations. The study was initiated and directed by Dr. David B. Ast, director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Dental Health.

Although the Kingston-Newburgh project was set up as a ten year study, the fluoridation proved so effective in reducing dental decay that the State Health Department adopted its official recommendation of fluoridation after the study had been in effect only six years. At that time, State Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe said the benefits of water fluoridation had been so marked that he recommended communities undertake water fluoridation if the Department's control measures could be applied. At present, 30 communities in upstate New York with approximately 1,500,000 residents are now receiving fluoridated water.

THE APRIL 21 ceremonies will begin at 9:30 a. m., when members of the Health Department's Technical Advisory Committees on Fluoridation visit the schools to observe the dental conditions of approximately 200 children. This will be followed by a visit to the water treatment plant.

A luncheon meeting will be held at the Palantine Hotel in Newburgh at 12 o'clock. At this meeting local officials from both Newburgh and Kingston as well as representatives of the medical and dental profession will be present.

Speakers at the luncheon meeting will include Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, first Deputy Commissioner of the New York State Department of Health; Dr. Edward R. Schlesinger, Associate Director of the Division of Medical Services, New York State Department of Health, and Dr. David B. Ast, Director of the Bureau of Dental Health, New York State Department of Health.

Corporation Profits Larger This Year Than in 1954

New York, April 18 (AP) — Profits this year are running ahead of last year by a margin wider than few but the most optimistic foresaw.

The first 65 corporations to report on earnings after taxes in the first three months of operations show three out of four doing better this year than last.

Combined, their net profits are 21 per cent higher than in the first quarter of 1954.

PARTLY THIS is because business is good this year. Partly it's because busiess this time last year was mediocre to poor for many companies.

Then many companies were running on reduced production schedules. Sales were down and gross profits with them. A sizable number, however, maintained their equilibrium because reduced taxes kept net income from sliding.

THIS YEAR tax rates are at about the same level as last. The gains this year, therefore, reflect increased sales or trimmed operating costs, or both.

The gain in earnings brings joy to the stockholders, since it holds promise of generous dividend payments ahead.

The Big Bull Market in stocks was built in part on expectation that earnings would be up this year and that dividends, too, might rise.

Professional traders look ahead and are more interested in what is to come than what has happened. The flood of earnings statements now spouting from the accountants' desks is ancient history in the stock market — but a reassuring and gratifying story.

The profit gains aren't uniform by any means. Eighteen of the 65 companies show a drop in earnings. Two firms operated at a loss. A year ago there were five in that plight.

NOR ARE the first 65 companies a big enough sample to set the pattern for the thousands yet to report. But the 65 are widely scattered through many industries. And they vary just as widely in size.

For many of the companies the first quarter of their fiscal year is December, January and February. For others it's the calendar quarter of January, February and March.

Striking profit gains this year are reported by some of the steel companies and the railroads. In both fields the early months of 1954 were slowdown periods. Steel production and earnings shrank. For some railroads the red ink came out on the accountants' desks.

THIS YEAR both are doing better than they had expected only a short time ago.

Chemicals are among the profit gainers, reflecting better sales. Building material producers are more prosperous, as befits suppliers for the big building boom. Textile firms look better this year—in many cases because they looked so bad a year ago. Mining companies have better profit reports, aided by increased demand for their products and by higher prices.

Among the food companies to report early, more show declines in profits this year than advances. So do tool makers and distillers.

BANKS AND finance companies aren't included in the 65 companies of the sample. But most banks have reported earning gains this year, helped by larger funds available for investment, and higher returns on securities.

Combined, the 65 companies report profits of $269,230,998. A year ago the same 65 had combined earnings of $222,093,483.

Leads Class to Safety

Cohoes, April 18 (AP)—A 14-year-old girl led her Sunday school class of 25 younger children from a burning church yesterday after an explosion in the boiler room. Deborah McMillan was teaching the class in the basement of the Full Gospel Church. About 30 adults attending a worship service fled from the main floor of the frame building after her father, the pastor, gave the alarm. All escaped harm. The children ranged from 2 to 12 years old. The Rev. Clarence McMillan said he found them filing up the stairs under his daughter's direction when he went to investigate the basement commotion. Fire Chief Harold A. Grogan said the fire was caused by a flashback in the oil burner. The pastor said the damage to the basement was excessive.

Death Comes to Dinner

Morehead City, N. C. (AP)—For three weeks lights here flickered momentarily twice a day. George Stovall, a power company manager, figured it out. He learned that sea gulls were being electrocuted at the city dump. Bad weather had idled fishing boats and there were no scraps for the gulls, so they flocked to the city dump. There were so many birds the overlapping wings short-circuited the 33,000-volt lines serving Morehead City. The lights flickered twice daily because trucks dumped their garbage twice daily. So the power company spread its lines farther apart, and now everything is all right.

Tillson Taxpayers Vote DownSchoolLand

Tillson, April 18—Taxpayers in the Tillson School area voted down a plan proposed by the Tillson Board of Education at a special meeting April 14 to purchase approximately seven acres of land bordering the present school property. The vote was overwhelmingly against any move to purchase land at this time.

Almost 125 taxpayers attended the meeting. The objective set forth by the board of education for purchasing the property was to have sufficient land on which to expand the present buildings in the event in the near future it became desirable or necessary to make such expansion.

Following a discussion period on the subject, the voters emphatically turned the proposition down. Kenneth Clark, president of the board of education, was spokesman for the board. Fred Palmatier was chosen as chairman of the meeting.

First Aid Course Will Start Tonight

Tillson, April 18—A course in first aid will start this evening at the Tillson firehall and last from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. Weekly sessions are to be held until the course is finished. The study was initiated by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Tillson Volunteer Fire Company. It is open to men and women of Tillson. It will be necessary to purchase an instruction book, the auxiliary announced.

Corporation Profits Larger This Year Than in 1954

New York, April 18 (AP) — Profits this year are running ahead of last year by a margin wider than few but the most optimistic foresaw.

The first 65 corporations to report on earnings after taxes in the first three months of operations show three out of four doing better this year than last.

Combined, their net profits are 21 per cent higher than in the first quarter of 1954.

PARTLY THIS is because business is good this year. Partly it's because busiess this time last year was mediocre to poor for many companies.

Then many companies were running on reduced production schedules. Sales were down and gross profits with them. A sizable number, however, maintained their equilibrium because reduced taxes kept net income from sliding.

THIS YEAR tax rates are at about the same level as last. The gains this year, therefore, reflect increased sales or trimmed operating costs, or both.

The gain in earnings brings joy to the stockholders, since it holds promise of generous dividend payments ahead.

The Big Bull Market in stocks was built in part on expectation that earnings would be up this year and that dividends, too, might rise.

Professional traders look ahead and are more interested in what is to come than what has happened. The flood of earnings statements now spouting from the accountants' desks is ancient history in the stock market — but a reassuring and gratifying story.

The profit gains aren't uniform by any means. Eighteen of the 65 companies show a drop in earnings. Two firms operated at a loss. A year ago there were five in that plight.

NOR ARE the first 65 companies a big enough sample to set the pattern for the thousands yet to report. But the 65 are widely scattered through many industries. And they vary just as widely in size.

For many of the companies the first quarter of their fiscal year is December, January and February. For others it's the calendar quarter of January, February and March.

Striking profit gains this year are reported by some of the steel companies and the railroads. In both fields the early months of 1954 were slowdown periods. Steel production and earnings shrank. For some railroads the red ink came out on the accountants' desks.

THIS YEAR both are doing better than they had expected only a short time ago.

Chemicals are among the profit gainers, reflecting better sales. Building material producers are more prosperous, as befits suppliers for the big building boom. Textile firms look better this year—in many cases because they looked so bad a year ago. Mining companies have better profit reports, aided by increased demand for their products and by higher prices.

Among the food companies to report early, more show declines in profits this year than advances. So do tool makers and distillers.

BANKS AND finance companies aren't included in the 65 companies of the sample. But most banks have reported earning gains this year, helped by larger funds available for investment, and higher returns on securities.

Combined, the 65 companies report profits of $269,230,998. A year ago the same 65 had combined earnings of $222,093,483.

Leads Class to Safety

Cohoes, April 18 (AP)—A 14-year-old girl led her Sunday school class of 25 younger children from a burning church yesterday after an explosion in the boiler room. Deborah McMillan was teaching the class in the basement of the Full Gospel Church. About 30 adults attending a worship service fled from the main floor of the frame building after her father, the pastor, gave the alarm. All escaped harm. The children ranged from 2 to 12 years old. The Rev. Clarence McMillan said he found them filing up the stairs under his daughter's direction when he went to investigate the basement commotion. Fire Chief Harold A. Grogan said the fire was caused by a flashback in the oil burner. The pastor said the damage to the basement was excessive.

Death Comes to Dinner

Morehead City, N. C. (AP)—For three weeks lights here flickered momentarily twice a day. George Stovall, a power company manager, figured it out. He learned that sea gulls were being electrocuted at the city dump. Bad weather had idled fishing boats and there were no scraps for the gulls, so they flocked to the city dump. There were so many birds the overlapping wings short-circuited the 33,000-volt lines serving Morehead City. The lights flickered twice daily because trucks dumped their garbage twice daily. So the power company spread its lines farther apart, and now everything is all right.

DISCUSS BROWNING DINNER—Committee workers from Joyce-Schirick Post, VFW, planning the citizenship testimonial dinner for Bob Browning, local newscaster, are (l-r) Howard Shurter, publicity; Hubert Richter, general chairman; Richard Davis, commander; Donald Robins, past commander and Sidney Lane, district judge advocate, who is in charge of arrangements. The dinner will be held April 26 in honor of Browning at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Browning served during World War 1 as a first lieutenant with Company G, 318th Infantry, and since his return to civilian life has been actively interested in veterans affairs. He lost an arm in the service. Guest speaker at the dinner will be Joseph J. Lombardo, New York city attorney and deputy senior vice-commander of the VFW. Other local committee workers planning the dinner are City Judge Raymond J. Mino, master of ceremonies; Raymond Myers and Morgan Ryan. (Freeman photo)

Tillson

Taxpayers Vote DownSchoolLand

Tillson, April 18—Taxpayers in the Tillson School area voted down a plan proposed by the Tillson Board of Education at a special meeting April 14 to purchase approximately seven acres of land bordering the present school property. The vote was overwhelmingly against any move to purchase land at this time.

Almost 125 taxpayers attended the meeting. The objective set forth by the board of education for purchasing the property was to have sufficient land on which to expand the present buildings in the event in the near future it became desirable or necessary to make such expansion.

Following a discussion period on the subject, the voters emphatically turned the proposition down. Kenneth Clark, president of the board of education, was spokesman for the board. Fred Palmatier was chosen as chairman of the meeting.

First Aid Course Will Start Tonight

The study was initiated by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Tillson Volunteer Fire Company. It is open to men and women of Tillson. It will be necessary to purchase an instruction book, the auxiliary announced.

OUR NATION'S YOUTH

Each year, in the second week in April, National Sunday School Week is observed. This year, the laymen's National Committee offers two worthwhile thoughts on behalf of the week's forthcoming 11th annual observance, April 11-17.

One is that each day, at 6 p. m., our young people offer a silent prayer for boys and girls behind the Iron Curtain, asking that they too will have the freedom to pray and that peace among nations will be realized. The other is that all of our young people, regardless of creed, attend Sunday School. These are splendid goals. Sunday Schools are the root-strength of our nation's youth. They are thus the root-strength of our future.

With the baseball season getting under way the politicians will get a little rest. All the second guessers will be concentrating on the tough job of out-masterminding the manager of their favorite team.

SCIENCE ROMANCER

Science fiction addicts should have imitated the citizens of Nantes, France, who recently observed the 50th anniversary of the death of their most famous fellow-resident, Jules Verne. Even after this long interval Verne's stories are still read, notably the recently filmed "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," a remarkable anticipation of the achievements of the submarine.

Verne took great pains with his scientific background, which is more than some of today's writers of science fiction can say. So conservative was he in fact that some of his daring forecasts have been far surpassed by actuality. A popular title of his was "Around the World in 80 Days." Wiley Post and Will Rogers accomplished this feat in eight days and this has since been bettered. His "From the Earth to the Moon" has not yet been realized in practice, but the time may come.

How many of us go in for gay clothes, fancy cars and tricky appliances—and then wonder why the bills come in?

THE WORST MONOPOLY

Secretary of the Interior McKay recently denounced the most dangerous and destructive of all monopolies—government monopoly. He said: "In other parts of the world today this philosophy of government monopoly has created a living nightmare for hundreds of millions of unfortunate people." In the same speech, the secretary said that one of the great conflicts of the present lies between the philosophy which supports ownership and development of our natural resources in the traditional American way and one which "presses constantly for expansion of an all-powerful federal bureaucracy. . . ."

There is no greater enemy of freedom than all-powerful government—and no greater friend of slavery.

HEALTHY SIGN

Not since April 21, 1945, has Germany had a commercial airline. But Lufthansa has now returned to the airways, with flights between the major West German cities. Soon planes will be flying to other European countries, and by summer transoceanic service to New York from Hamburg is scheduled.

It's one more sign of returning health and normalcy for a Germany that is now drawing closer to the Western family of nations.

PARADISE OF SILENCE

A new type of vacation spot has been found. Prince Wolfrad von Schaumburg-Lippe, who owns a resort near Hanover, Germany, plans to establish a "paradise of silence" for the far-famed tired business man.

Only quiet sports will be permitted, such as golf, archery and tennis. There will be neither automobiles nor radios. Music is permitted for just one hour a day, and then only for classical selections, chosen for their quietness by the management. Wagner is likely to be rejected for Chopin.

It sounds like an ideal spot for jangled nerves. Not only tired business men might like it, but some others, also.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

FREEDOM OF THE MAILS

Max Lerner, writing about Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., said:

". . . In the years after 1935, hundreds of publications arose which were either directly connected with fascist movements, like Polley's Silver Shirt paper and the Christian Front 'Social Justice,' or, like more powerful newspapers such as the 'Chicago Tribune,' tended to coincide with the Nazi pattern out of anti-Administration bitterness. To take the position that only specific issues can be excluded from the mails and that there can be no suspension of the second-class mailing rights as a whole is clearly to deny to the government an indispensable weapon for fighting the enemy, and to leave the nation at the enemies' mercy on one of its most valuable fronts. The long siege of proto-fascist propaganda in the United States, before Pearl Harbor, had left substantial elements of public opinion in a receptive mind for the most vicious anti-democratic and anti-war writing in our recent history."

Lerner, in a word, favored the suspension of second-class mail for Nazi and Fascist newspapers and magazines. But the Nazis never developed a movement in this country as powerful, as effective or as dangerous to the United States as the Communists have. Today there is no evidence of a meaningful Nazi or Fascist movement in the United States, but the Communists continue to disturb this country. On this subject, Lerner says:

"I add one observation evoked by the experience of America with civil liberties in the period after World War II. This was a period of cold war rather than of war itself. The cold war nevertheless produced tensions far out of proportion to the actual strength of the Communist movement inside the United States, with a resulting constriction in the climate of opinion. The focal point shifted from censorship of printed matter to the inquiry into the political opinions of individuals—far beyond what could be justified by any reasonable estimate of the danger of these opinions to American survival. What was most dangerous to America, on the other hand, was that it stripped itself of some of the strength of the strongest weapon it had in the world-wide struggle with Kremlin power—the image of a free society."

From these quotations, we must assume that, according to Lerner, it was correct to suppress "the image of a free society" when it applied to the Nazi or the Fascist but it is wrong to apply the same rule to the Communists and their allies. It is difficult to follow the logic or the morality of this position. Either "the image of a free society" is to be preserved at all times, either we are to recognize free access to knowledge at all times or we give the Post Office authority over the minds of our people at all times.

Max Lerner's appraisal of the dangers of Communism in the United States differs radically from that of J. Edgar Hoover who, as Director of the FBI, is more reliable an assessor of this conspiracy than any private person.

I have never been able to understand why the so-called liberals make the distinction between Fascism and Communism. In practice both violate human liberty. In theory both are a rejection of the American concept of the rights of the individual to freedom of choice, to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Both elevate the authority of the state and degrade the individual to a thing controlled by the state. Both hated the United States and the Soviet Universal State is conducting a world-wide war against this country now.

It would seem to be more consistent and more fitting for a liberal, such as Max Lerner proclaims himself to be, to oppose Marxism as vehemently as he opposed Fascism. On the other hand, one would have expected him to keep the mails open to all ideas, including those which he abhors. Any other view seems to me to violate, to obliterate "the image of a free society."

Many opponents of Hitler and the Nazi were prepared to risk the institutions that guard our liberties in the vehemence of their opposition. They failed to realize that they are inaugurating an era of conformity by pressure of majority opinion. Now the precedents they set are being turned upon them. The current practice of the Post Office to decide what Americans should know is an outcome of their activities.

That Body of Yours

MANAGEMENT OF LOW BACK PAIN

I have been interested in "lame backs" for a long time, especially since I had to wear a "supportive brace" for my own back for several years. Many articles on the subject has listed hundreds of possible causes of low back pain and some specialists have concentrated on the "herniated or ruptured disc" to such an extent that it overshadows the whole back problem. Yet there is such a syndrome (group of symptons) as the "sprained back" which is all too common and which is usually caused by some injury, such as a blow, a fall, strain in twisting, bending, lifting or pushing.

Industrial physicians are in a particularly valuable position to study the problem of low back strain; they are the first to give aid when an accident occurs. A group of physicians from the Medical Department of Sperry Gyroscope Company, Great Neck, N. Y., took steps to bring the question to the attention of all employes by means of lectures with slides by the Safety Engineer, exhibits and posters at First Aid Stations, articles in the company news organ, and briefing the nursing staff on recognizing such cases.

"Our medical staff regularly treated and followed more than 200 cases of acute low-back sprains yearly. All 'lost time' cases and severe injuries were treated by family physicians or orthopedists, who used many different methods of treatments."

It was found that the earlier the pain was brought under control, the less likely was the injured back to become chronically troublesome. They selected for treatment 91 cases who were seen within 24 hours of an accident which had produced pain and limitation of movement. They obtained satisfactory relief of pain in 86 per cent of cases by the use of a skeletal muscle and nerve relaxer, Mephate, and the loss of time from work dropped from a high of 35 per cent to a low of less than one per cent after their program was begun. Every effort was made to keep the patients from getting into bed as a means of treatment and all were encouraged to secure bed boards for more firm support of their mattresses.

It was found that the severity of the injury, the physical build of the injured person and the amount of limitation of movement he had did not affect the final recovery. "Back sprains are inclined to become chronic, so in the treatment of our employes we instructed them in the cause of back sprains and measures that must be used to avoid future harm to a back that is basically weak. Within the period of their treatment we started them on a course of simple exercises designed to keep them flexible and relaxed and which could be used daily or a few times a week following recovery as a preventive measure against future back sprains."

The Meeting Could Break Up Any Minute

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Whether or not the Chinese Communists begin their attack on the Nationalist-held-off-shore islands of Matsu and Quemoy this month or any time within the next 90 days, Adm. Robert B. Carney, U. S. Chief of Naval Operations, is believed to have performed a real public service in calling attention to the danger.

Without such a warning, the United States would have run the risk of another attack that would have caught this country completely off base.

It is, of course, the American tradition to let its enemies strike the first blow. The Maine has to be sunk in Havana Harbor, the Lusitania has to be sunk by a U-boat, the whole Pacific fleet has to be attacked in Pearl Harbor or the Communists have to cross the 38th parallel in Korea before public opinion decides it has to get ready to fight.

The question may be speculative, but it is not beyond the realm of probability to ask if the U. S. fleet would have been concentrated in Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, if some high military officials had issued a loud, public warning of impending Japanese attack three weeks before?

ADMIRAL CARNEY, IN HIS now famous background briefing with a score of Washington reporters, issued such a warning with respect for Matsu and Quemoy and even Formosa. There is now no excuse for any U. S. forces to be caught napping in this area.

There has been some inclination in Washington to censure Admiral Carney for sounding this alarm. He has been accused of wanting to force the United States into a war.

Nothing was further from his mind. The admiral had just made an inspection trip to the Formosa Straits. He had conferred with Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific fleet, and Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander in the South China Seas area. He had the benefit of their latest intelligence reports.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, Secretary of State, was at the Formosan capital when Admiral Carney was there. Secretary Dulles came back and made three statements, warning of the danger of war over Formosa. The secretary softened his warnings with expressions of hope for peace, however, and they didn't get over. When Admiral Carney said it in blunter language, it registered.

What made it appear like a conspiracy to involve the United States in a war with Communist China was that on the weekend after Carney and Dulles spoke out, Senators William F. Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire both sounded off on television programs. They took the stand that the United States could not make further retreats in the Far East without losing all of Asia

The truth of the matter is that neither Senator Knowland nor Senator Bridges knew in advance that the other was going on the air. Neither knew it was Admiral Carney who had issued the then-unattributed warning of Chinese Communist attack on the off-shore islands by mid-April. There had been no conferences between the two senators and either Secretary Dulles or Admiral Carney. This was no plot to force President Eisenhower's hand.

FAR FROM CENSURING ADMIRAL CARNEY for his role in these proceedings, or putting a black mark on his record, events are piling up to make him look better all the time.

Even if there is no war at all, it may be Admiral Carney's warning that will convince the Chinese Communists of the danger of attack.

And if the attack does come—this month, in the next three months or in the next year—Admiral Carney will have the last laugh and be the hero. He will be the man who was way out ahead and right.

One opinion now growing in Washington is that Admiral Carney has nothing to be ashamed of and nothing to hide.

As for his career as Chief of Naval Operations being ruined by disclosure of his identity as the source of the war-threat stories, it is recalled that Adm. Arthur W. Radford used the same technique in fighting the B-36 several years ago. And look where he ended up—chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

April 17, 1935—Eight inches of snow was reported in the Pine Hill area and about an inch fell here.

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool was due to be installed as pastor of the First Dutch Reformed Church May 8.

April 18, 1935—Work started on installation of the local police radio communication system.

Mrs. Gordon Churchwell, of Wawarsing died.

Former Surrogate George F. Kaufman was elected counsel of the Kingston Trust Company to succeed the late Charles W. Walton.

Predicts Death of William, Earl of Pembroke

William, Earl of Pembroke (April 8, 1580-April 10, 1630), was told by his tutor Sandford, who was a celebrated clairvoyant, that he would only survive his 50th birthday by 48 hours. On April 10, 1630 the predicted time was about to expire. The earl—sure that the danger had passed—laughed aloud and drained a large beaker of wine to celebrate the occasion. But he laughed a minute too soon. The wine got into his windpipe and the ensuing cough caused the earl to die of apoplexy as the last minute of the prediction was about to end.

HEALTH FOR ALL

CUE FOR LAUGHTER

If you were writing a tragedy, you wouldn't give your hero a case of hiccups. On film or on stage, "hic" is a signal for laughter. But all joking aside, while hiccups may be just a nuisance to most people, a serious case may exhaust the patient to the point of death.

The danger of long-continued hiccups was dramatized for all of us when Pope Pius XII suffered a series of attacks which endangered his life. Cases have been recorded which lasted as long as nine months. Drugs, inhalations, and even surgery have been used in the past to control hiccups. A new drug, chlorpromazine, seems to promise good results in most difficult cases.

Hiccups is due to a spasm of the diaphragm, resulting from an irritation of the nerve pathways. The irritation may have a simple cause, such as overeating or drinking or even a fit of laughter. When hiccups come from such simple causes, they usually end themselves. But they may also be caused by a disease or toxic condition. Hiccups may make it difficult to treat the disease which caused the spasm in the first place. In some cases, it may be necessary to block or crush the phrenic nerve which controls the diaphragm.

It isn't enough to stop the hiccups. The cause must be found and eliminated, or they will return. As few as five days of continued hiccups can leave the patient in a state of exhaustion. If hiccups continue for more than a day, it is wise to consult the doctor. Why suffer unnecessarily when the doctor can stop the spasms and then get at the cause?

Red China Release of 15 Captive American Airmen Is Expected at Any Time

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 18 — Now that the United States government has announced that it will give permission to the 76 Chinese students to go back to Red China if they wish, it may be expected at any time that Red China will release the 15 American airmen held in violation of the Korean armistice.

No "deal" has been made, and it will be officially denied that any "exchange" has been proposed by either side.

The key is to be found, however, in the words of the secretary-general of the United Nations, Dag Hammarskjold, when he said on January 13 last to a press conference in New York on his return from Red China:

"It is not really a question of negotiations. It is a question of where the ground is prepared by negotiations — that ground having partly been prepared and partly by negotiations conducted by this or that national government.

"But the final decisions, I think, will necessarily emerge as unilateral decisions in all those various ticklish cases. They will emerge as unilateral decisions and as part of a general development, more than as the result of any kind of settlement.

"When you talk about negotiation in the sense you (the newsmen) indicate now, you seem to have in mind this give-and-take kind of situation, which is a typical one. I have already indicated that this has not been discussed in terms of a deal, nor with any link between different problems."

Those are the carefully chosen words which a diplomat is accustomed to employ in very delicate situations. Certainly neither the Peiping government nor the United States government would wish to be placed in the position of making any kind of trade or deal. Yet if each side makes its own decision to do a certain thing—it's called a "unilateral" decision. What difference does it make so far as the end result is concerned if one government acts ahead of the other? That's the way the diplomats look at it, and, of course, the relatives of the 15 American airmen will not waste much time analyzing the words used, or the procedures, so long as the boys come back home safe and sound.

But the world may witness something significant if the American airmen are released. It will be apparent that the Red Chinese withheld these Americans from those prisoners who were ordered to be returned under the provisions of the Korean armistice just to use them as pawns in an international propaganda game.

There is, of course, no comparison between the status of the Chinese students now being allowed to take a boat home and the airmen. The students have not been held in any jail. They have been free to come and go and live a normal life except for periodic reports to the immigration service. The only reason for detaining them was that they had acquired a knowledge of atomic physics, and it was thought desirable to delay their return at least until there was an armistice in Korea and could be determined what their status should be.

It is a fact that the Chinese students have been released to go home without exacting any conditions from the Peiping government. This may seem to be taking a long chance, as there is no obligation arising as a result of their release except the moral obligation taught by America's generous and spontaneous example. If the Red Chinese wish to earn at least or mark on the score card of good behavior in the international sense, they will seize the opportunity to do exactly what the American government did and release the airmen as a "unilateral" act.

It may be assumed that the secretary-general of the United Nations is banking on such a development. Significantly the state department didn't even formally notify the United Nations that it had granted permission to the Chinese students to leave the country, as it was doubtless desired not to tie up the problem of the students with that of the airmen.

But the Red Chinese leaders about these things over the radio and, when the students have arrived back home and there is a quiet day without incident of international tension in the headlines, Red China's radio may reveal that the airmen have been released. Certainly the American authorities are waiting patiently for some such development to occur before long.

Tyler Kent, a young American, got a long term in an English prison during the war to keep him silent about secret communications between Roosevelt and Churchill. The text of those messages has never been disclosed although there have been frequent references to one passage in which Churchill is represented to have said to Roosevelt: "Between us two, we can rule the world."

Kent was tried in a London court but not for any alleged offense against the actual security of the British realm. The trial record, a rare document accessible to few Americans, leaves a conspicuous blank as to the specific offense alleged. It does not contain the messages themselves. It appears that the English court improvised law to fit a situation embarrassing to Churchill and Roosevelt.

Kent got enough time in prison to keep him quiet until interests of more dramatic power had arisen to occupy the public mind. He was a petty employe in the American Embassy under Joe Kennedy.

Kent associated with the daughter of an admiral of the old Imperial Russian Navy who hated the Soviets for having massacred most of the intelligent, cultured and patriotic citizens of Imperial Russia. Millions of Imperial Russians, scattered over the earth in exile, heartily sympathized with Germany as an enemy of the Bolshevik tyranny. Many went to war against Stalin under Hitler's banners. Kent's friend held such sentiments, but the transcript of her triad indicates that she was not charged with any act or expression against the British interest. She got the works because certain remarks of hers, in no sense illegal of themselves, concurred with certain Hitlerian articles of faith. The British court laid it down that a person could be sent to prison for expressing a belief that honesty was a good policy—if Hitler had said it somewhere, sometime.

Under standard practice, Tyler Kent, as a member of the staff of the U. S. Embassy in London, should have been immune from arrest even for murder. Only last year one member of the Dominican Embassy staff was killed and another was wounded in a scrap which never was explained. There was no prosecution. Diplomatic immunity applied.

Kent, however, was thrown to the wolves. The purpose was to smother the truth of Roosevelt's clandestine correspondence with Churchill looking to the involvement of the United States in the war. Churchill's memoirs contain messages from FDR, who, with fatuous waggishness, referred to him as "former naval person" because Churchill had been First Lord of the Admiralty, a civilian job. More to the point, Churchill exulted over the news of the great American disaster of Pearl Harbor portending sorrow, moral decline and political disintegration in our country. This was the hour he had worked for and those messages were the key to that effort. If they had been published then, there would have been commotion here at home.

All communications by Roosevelt to the British government should have gone to the prime minister, but Roosevelt was bypassing Chamberlain and dealing with Churchill on personal terms.

If Kent wanted to help Hitler he did not succeed as far as the trial record shows. The information never reached Germany. There was no evidence that he intended that it should.

If Kent had been brought home, the consequences to Roosevelt would have been much worse than any consequences to Kent. He did not actually steal any physical documents, the property of the United States. He took fascimiles and the originals remained in the embassy. Whatever punishment, if any, that Kent had received in an American court would have been trifling compared to the moral and political benefit to the American people. He might have kept us out of war at a saving of God knows how many lives and prevented the horrors of the cold war with Stalin and his successors. He intimated this such was his purpose.

Probably no charge could have been made against Kent under American law. What crime had he committed? Who charged him with none. Had he, on the other had, tried to perform a great patriotic service. By supressing the facts, the regime has suggested that he did.

After his return home Kent suddenly vanished. One man who knows him reports that he married a wealthy woman older than himself and has been living much of the time on her yacht. Meanwhile, as in the case of others whom the cult of the left had reasons to discredit, Kent has been lavishly smeared. Ezra Pound, a great poet, was adjudged crazy so that testimony he might give about Henry Wallace, the late Sol Bloom and members of the Roosevelt family would have value. This is one explanation of the sudden great emphasis on "mental hygiene" in the nationwide networks of the CBS of the left.

OUR NATION'S YOUTH

Each year, in the second week in April, National Sunday School Week is observed. This year, the laymen's National Committee offers two worthwhile thoughts on behalf of the week's forthcoming 11th annual observance, April 11-17.

One is that each day, at 6 p. m., our young people offer a silent prayer for boys and girls behind the Iron Curtain, asking that they too will have the freedom to pray and that peace among nations will be realized. The other is that all of our young people, regardless of creed, attend Sunday School. These are splendid goals. Sunday Schools are the root-strength of our nation's youth. They are thus the root-strength of our future.

With the baseball season getting under way the politicians will get a little rest. All the second guessers will be concentrating on the tough job of out-masterminding the manager of their favorite team.

SCIENCE ROMANCER

Science fiction addicts should have imitated the citizens of Nantes, France, who recently observed the 50th anniversary of the death of their most famous fellow-resident, Jules Verne. Even after this long interval Verne's stories are still read, notably the recently filmed "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," a remarkable anticipation of the achievements of the submarine.

Verne took great pains with his scientific background, which is more than some of today's writers of science fiction can say. So conservative was he in fact that some of his daring forecasts have been far surpassed by actuality. A popular title of his was "Around the World in 80 Days." Wiley Post and Will Rogers accomplished this feat in eight days and this has since been bettered. His "From the Earth to the Moon" has not yet been realized in practice, but the time may come.

How many of us go in for gay clothes, fancy cars and tricky appliances—and then wonder why the bills come in?

THE WORST MONOPOLY

Secretary of the Interior McKay recently denounced the most dangerous and destructive of all monopolies—government monopoly. He said: "In other parts of the world today this philosophy of government monopoly has created a living nightmare for hundreds of millions of unfortunate people." In the same speech, the secretary said that one of the great conflicts of the present lies between the philosophy which supports ownership and development of our natural resources in the traditional American way and one which "presses constantly for expansion of an all-powerful federal bureaucracy. . . ."

There is no greater enemy of freedom than all-powerful government—and no greater friend of slavery.

HEALTHY SIGN

Not since April 21, 1945, has Germany had a commercial airline. But Lufthansa has now returned to the airways, with flights between the major West German cities. Soon planes will be flying to other European countries, and by summer transoceanic service to New York from Hamburg is scheduled.

It's one more sign of returning health and normalcy for a Germany that is now drawing closer to the Western family of nations.

PARADISE OF SILENCE

A new type of vacation spot has been found. Prince Wolfrad von Schaumburg-Lippe, who owns a resort near Hanover, Germany, plans to establish a "paradise of silence" for the far-famed tired business man.

Only quiet sports will be permitted, such as golf, archery and tennis. There will be neither automobiles nor radios. Music is permitted for just one hour a day, and then only for classical selections, chosen for their quietness by the management. Wagner is likely to be rejected for Chopin.

It sounds like an ideal spot for jangled nerves. Not only tired business men might like it, but some others, also.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

FREEDOM OF THE MAILS

Max Lerner, writing about Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., said:

". . . In the years after 1935, hundreds of publications arose which were either directly connected with fascist movements, like Polley's Silver Shirt paper and the Christian Front 'Social Justice,' or, like more powerful newspapers such as the 'Chicago Tribune,' tended to coincide with the Nazi pattern out of anti-Administration bitterness. To take the position that only specific issues can be excluded from the mails and that there can be no suspension of the second-class mailing rights as a whole is clearly to deny to the government an indispensable weapon for fighting the enemy, and to leave the nation at the enemies' mercy on one of its most valuable fronts. The long siege of proto-fascist propaganda in the United States, before Pearl Harbor, had left substantial elements of public opinion in a receptive mind for the most vicious anti-democratic and anti-war writing in our recent history."

Lerner, in a word, favored the suspension of second-class mail for Nazi and Fascist newspapers and magazines. But the Nazis never developed a movement in this country as powerful, as effective or as dangerous to the United States as the Communists have. Today there is no evidence of a meaningful Nazi or Fascist movement in the United States, but the Communists continue to disturb this country. On this subject, Lerner says:

"I add one observation evoked by the experience of America with civil liberties in the period after World War II. This was a period of cold war rather than of war itself. The cold war nevertheless produced tensions far out of proportion to the actual strength of the Communist movement inside the United States, with a resulting constriction in the climate of opinion. The focal point shifted from censorship of printed matter to the inquiry into the political opinions of individuals—far beyond what could be justified by any reasonable estimate of the danger of these opinions to American survival. What was most dangerous to America, on the other hand, was that it stripped itself of some of the strength of the strongest weapon it had in the world-wide struggle with Kremlin power—the image of a free society."

From these quotations, we must assume that, according to Lerner, it was correct to suppress "the image of a free society" when it applied to the Nazi or the Fascist but it is wrong to apply the same rule to the Communists and their allies. It is difficult to follow the logic or the morality of this position. Either "the image of a free society" is to be preserved at all times, either we are to recognize free access to knowledge at all times or we give the Post Office authority over the minds of our people at all times.

Max Lerner's appraisal of the dangers of Communism in the United States differs radically from that of J. Edgar Hoover who, as Director of the FBI, is more reliable an assessor of this conspiracy than any private person.

I have never been able to understand why the so-called liberals make the distinction between Fascism and Communism. In practice both violate human liberty. In theory both are a rejection of the American concept of the rights of the individual to freedom of choice, to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Both elevate the authority of the state and degrade the individual to a thing controlled by the state. Both hated the United States and the Soviet Universal State is conducting a world-wide war against this country now.

It would seem to be more consistent and more fitting for a liberal, such as Max Lerner proclaims himself to be, to oppose Marxism as vehemently as he opposed Fascism. On the other hand, one would have expected him to keep the mails open to all ideas, including those which he abhors. Any other view seems to me to violate, to obliterate "the image of a free society."

Many opponents of Hitler and the Nazi were prepared to risk the institutions that guard our liberties in the vehemence of their opposition. They failed to realize that they are inaugurating an era of conformity by pressure of majority opinion. Now the precedents they set are being turned upon them. The current practice of the Post Office to decide what Americans should know is an outcome of their activities.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

MANAGEMENT OF LOW BACK PAIN

I have been interested in "lame backs" for a long time, especially since I had to wear a "supportive brace" for my own back for several years. Many articles on the subject has listed hundreds of possible causes of low back pain and some specialists have concentrated on the "herniated or ruptured disc" to such an extent that it overshadows the whole back problem. Yet there is such a syndrome (group of symptons) as the "sprained back" which is all too common and which is usually caused by some injury, such as a blow, a fall, strain in twisting, bending, lifting or pushing.

Industrial physicians are in a particularly valuable position to study the problem of low back strain; they are the first to give aid when an accident occurs. A group of physicians from the Medical Department of Sperry Gyroscope Company, Great Neck, N. Y., took steps to bring the question to the attention of all employes by means of lectures with slides by the Safety Engineer, exhibits and posters at First Aid Stations, articles in the company news organ, and briefing the nursing staff on recognizing such cases.

"Our medical staff regularly treated and followed more than 200 cases of acute low-back sprains yearly. All 'lost time' cases and severe injuries were treated by family physicians or orthopedists, who used many different methods of treatments."

It was found that the earlier the pain was brought under control, the less likely was the injured back to become chronically troublesome. They selected for treatment 91 cases who were seen within 24 hours of an accident which had produced pain and limitation of movement. They obtained satisfactory relief of pain in 86 per cent of cases by the use of a skeletal muscle and nerve relaxer, Mephate, and the loss of time from work dropped from a high of 35 per cent to a low of less than one per cent after their program was begun. Every effort was made to keep the patients from getting into bed as a means of treatment and all were encouraged to secure bed boards for more firm support of their mattresses.

It was found that the severity of the injury, the physical build of the injured person and the amount of limitation of movement he had did not affect the final recovery. "Back sprains are inclined to become chronic, so in the treatment of our employes we instructed them in the cause of back sprains and measures that must be used to avoid future harm to a back that is basically weak. Within the period of their treatment we started them on a course of simple exercises designed to keep them flexible and relaxed and which could be used daily or a few times a week following recovery as a preventive measure against future back sprains."

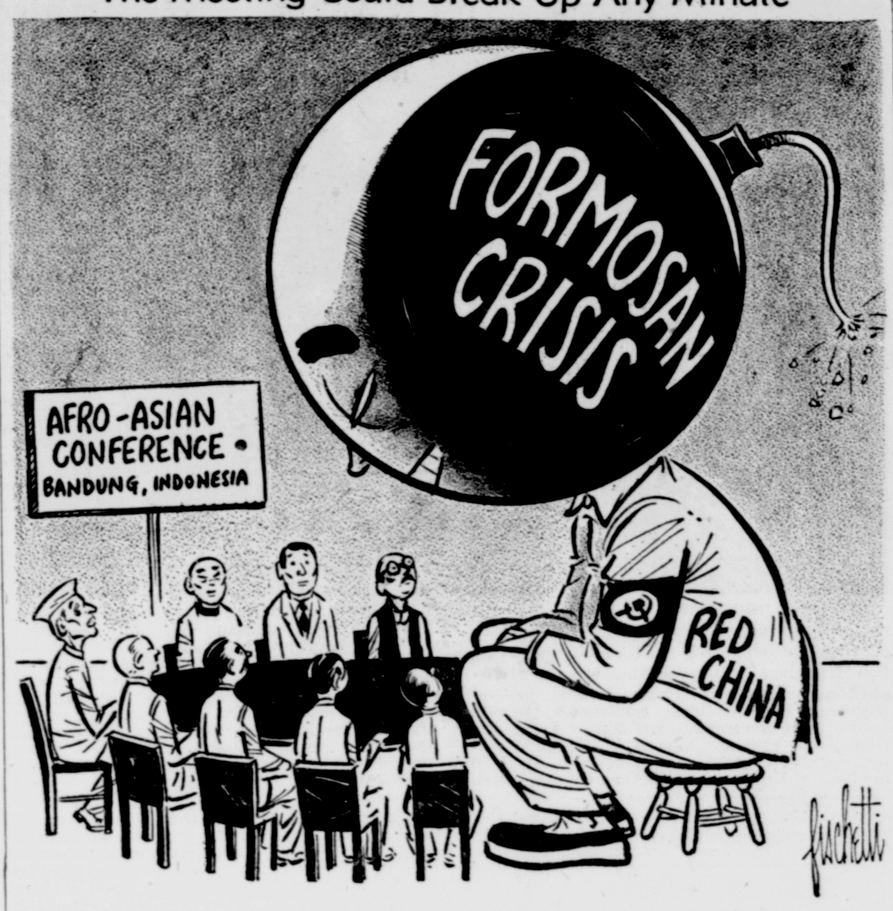
The Meeting Could Break Up Any Minute



Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Whether or not the Chinese Communists begin their attack on the Nationalist-held-off-shore islands of Matsu and Quemoy this month or any time within the next 90 days, Adm. Robert B. Carney, U. S. Chief of Naval Operations, is believed to have performed a real public service in calling attention to the danger.

Without such a warning, the United States would have run the risk of another attack that would have caught this country completely off base.

It is, of course, the American tradition to let its enemies strike the first blow. The Maine has to be sunk in Havana Harbor, the Lusitania has to be sunk by a U-boat, the whole Pacific fleet has to be attacked in Pearl Harbor or the Communists have to cross the 38th parallel in Korea before public opinion decides it has to get ready to fight.

The question may be speculative, but it is not beyond the realm of probability to ask if the U. S. fleet would have been concentrated in Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, if some high military officials had issued a loud, public warning of impending Japanese attack three weeks before?

ADMIRAL CARNEY, IN HIS now famous background briefing with a score of Washington reporters, issued such a warning with respect for Matsu and Quemoy and even Formosa. There is now no excuse for any U. S. forces to be caught napping in this area.

There has been some inclination in Washington to censure Admiral Carney for sounding this alarm. He has been accused of wanting to force the United States into a war.

Nothing was further from his mind. The admiral had just made an inspection trip to the Formosa Straits. He had conferred with Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific fleet, and Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander in the South China Seas area. He had the benefit of their latest intelligence reports.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, Secretary of State, was at the Formosan capital when Admiral Carney was there. Secretary Dulles came back and made three statements, warning of the danger of war over Formosa. The secretary softened his warnings with expressions of hope for peace, however, and they didn't get over. When Admiral Carney said it in blunter language, it registered.

What made it appear like a conspiracy to involve the United States in a war with Communist China was that on the weekend after Carney and Dulles spoke out, Senators William F. Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire both sounded off on television programs. They took the stand that the United States could not make further retreats in the Far East without losing all of Asia.

The truth of the matter is that neither Senator Knowland nor Senator Bridges knew in advance that the other was going on the air. Neither knew it was Admiral Carney who had issued the then-unattributed warning of Chinese Communist attack on the off-shore islands by mid-April. There had been no conferences between the two senators and either Secretary Dulles or Admiral Carney. This was no plot to force President Eisenhower's hand.

FAR FROM CENSURING ADMIRAL CARNEY for his role in these proceedings, or putting a black mark on his record, events are piling up to make him look better all the time.

Even if there is no war at all, it may be Admiral Carney's warning that will convince the Chinese Communists of the danger of attack.

And if the attack does come—this month, in the next three months or in the next year—Admiral Carney will have the last laugh and be the hero. He will be the man who was way out ahead and right.

One opinion now growing in Washington is that Admiral Carney has nothing to be ashamed of and nothing to hide.

As for his career as Chief of Naval Operations being ruined by disclosure of his identity as the source of the war-threat stories, it is recalled that Adm. Arthur W. Radford used the same technique in fighting the B-36 several years ago. And look where he ended up—chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Mrs. Gordon Churchwell, of Wawarsing died.

Former Surrogate George F. Kaufman was elected counsel of the Kingston Trust Company to succeed the late Charles W. Walton.

Predicts Death of William, Earl of Pembroke

William, Earl of Pembroke (April 8, 1580-April 10, 1630), was told by his tutor Sandford, who was a celebrated clairvoyant, that he would only survive his 50th birthday by 48 hours. On April 10, 1630 the predicted time was about to expire. The earl—sure that the danger had passed—laughed aloud and drained a large beaker of wine to celebrate the occasion. But he laughed a minute too soon. The wine got into his windpipe and the ensuing cough caused the earl to die of apoplexy as the last minute of the prediction was about to end.

HEALTH FOR ALL

If you were writing a tragedy, you wouldn't give your hero a case of hiccups. On film or on stage, "hic" is a signal for laughter. But all joking aside, while hiccups may be just a nuisance to most people, a serious case may exhaust the patient to the point of death.

The danger of long-continued hiccups was dramatized for all of us when Pope Pius XII suffered a series of attacks which endangered his life. Cases have been recorded which lasted as long as nine months. Drugs, inhalations, and even surgery have been used in the past to control hiccups. A new drug, chlorpromazine, seems to promise good results in most difficult cases.

Hiccups is due to a spasm of the diaphragm, resulting from an irritation of the nerve pathways. The irritation may have a simple cause, such as overeating or drinking or even a fit of laughter. When hiccups come from such simple causes, they usually end themselves. But they may also be caused by a disease or toxic condition. Hiccups may make it difficult to treat the disease which caused the spasm in the first place. In some cases, it may be necessary to block or crush the phrenic nerve which controls the diaphragm.

It isn't enough to stop the hiccups. The cause must be found and eliminated, or they will return. As few as five days of continued hiccups can leave the patient in a state of exhaustion. If hiccups continue for more than a day, it is wise to consult the doctor. Why suffer unnecessarily when the doctor can stop the spasms and then get at the cause?

Red China Release of 15 Captive American Airmen Is Expected at Any Time

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 18 — Now that the United States government has announced that it will give permission to the 76 Chinese students to go back to Red China if they wish, it may be expected at any time that Red China will release the 15 American airmen held in violation of the Korean armistice.

No "deal" has been made, and it will be officially denied that any "exchange" has been proposed by either side.

The key is to be found, however, in the words of the secretary-general of the United Nations, Dag Hammarskjold, when he said on January 13 last to a press conference in New York on his return from Red China:

"It is not really a question of negotiations. It is a question of where the ground is prepared by negotiations — that ground having partly been prepared and partly by negotiations conducted by this or that national government.

"But the final decisions, I think, will necessarily emerge as unilateral decisions in all those various ticklish cases. They will emerge as unilateral decisions and as part of a general development, more than as the result of any kind of settlement.

"When you talk about negotiation in the sense you (the newsmen) indicate now, you seem to have in mind this give-and-take kind of situation, which is a typical one. I have already indicated that this has not been discussed in terms of a deal, nor with any link between different problems."

Those are the carefully chosen words which a diplomat is accustomed to employ in very delicate situations. Certainly neither the Peiping government nor the United States government would wish to be placed in the position of making any kind of trade or deal. Yet if each side makes its own decision to do a certain thing—it's called a "unilateral" decision. What difference does it make so far as the end result is concerned if one government acts ahead of the other? That's the way the diplomats look at it, and, of course, the relatives of the 15 American airmen will not waste much time analyzing the words used, or the procedures, so long as the boys come back home safe and sound.

But the world may witness something significant if th American airmen are released It will be apparent that the Re Chinese withheld these Ameri cans from those prisoners wh were ordered to be returned un der the provisions of the Korea armistice just to use them a pawns in an international propa ganda game.

There is, of course, no com parison between the status o the Chinese students now bein allowed to take a boat home an the airmen. The students hav not been held in any jail. The have been free to come and g and live a normal life except fo periodic reports to the immigra tion service. The only reason fo detaining them was that the had acquired a knowledge o atomic physics, and it wa thought desirable to delay thei return at least until there wa an armistice in Korea and could be determined what the status should be.

It is a fact that the Chines students have been released t go home without exacting an conditions from the Peipin government. This may seem t be taking a long chance, a there is no obligation arising a a result of their release excep the moral obligation taught h America's generous and spon taneous example. If the Re Chinese wish to earn at least or mark on the score card of goo behavior in the internation sense, they will seize the op portunity to do exactly what th American government did an release the airmen as a "un ilateral" act.

It may be assumed that th secretary-general of the Unite Nations is banking on such a d velopment. Significantly th state department didn't even fo mally notify the United Natio that it had granted permissio to the Chinese students to leav the country, as it was doubtle desired not to tie up the pro lem of the students with that the airmen.

But the Red Chinese lea about these things over the rad and, when the students have a rived back home and there is quiet day without incident of i ternational tension in the hea lines, Red China's radio may r veal that the airmen have be released. Certainly the Americ authorities are waiting patien ly for some such development occur before long.

Squirrels and Injuns

By FRANK TRIPP

The President had squirrels, but wait till he gets pigeons. Some fancier's pigeons who fancy that we fancy them arrive early and stay real chummy all day. They're the gabbiest things, these calciminers. We've had squirrels too.

The love coos of the dove may sound sweet to its mate or furnish a swell catchline for Tin Pan Alley, but coed from the eaves outside your window at daybreak they don't inspire affection for any branch of the pigeon family.

We are pretty well fed up on both squirrels and pigeons at our house; stopped buying squirrels nuts and pigeons popcorn many moons ago.

A squirrel can do as much damage inside a house as a crew of house wreckers, just one cute little gray squirrel; and the rascals are clever about getting in; could get in the White House easier than Tom Dewey.

The red ones mind their own business much better, but nobody ever feds a red squirrel, which is pretty dumb of humans.

SPEAKING OF SQUIRRELS around the White House, they don't all have four legs. It was startling news the other day that Ike and Mamie ran up to their Gettysburg retreat without telling the vigilantes. It sorta makes one understand why the Duke of Windsor passed up his job as king.

A man in jail is no more under surveillance than the President—and a goldfish has almost as much privacy. It's a terrific price for a he-guy like Ike to pay.

The country gets a chuckle every time he and Mamie sneak off, like a couple of kids, to be themselves for a few hours. Yep, most folks still like Ike and Mamie.

They feel sorry for him that he couldn't come out flat, like I have, and say that the cunning squirrels can be, and usually are, a cussed nuisance, like pigeons It would offend the two-legged squirrel vote—and the country is full of 'em.

A HIGH SCHOOL football pal, Emerson Hanley, and I now hire the same specialist. Awaiting our turn, amid the doc's 1952 SEP's and National Geographics, the sports gabfest got back to Pop Warner's Carlisle Indians, and the greatest of them all, Jim Thorpe.

Another of our pals, Matty Fennell, got to be a University of Pennsylvania baseball pitcher in the early 1900s. Hanley told me of his last visit with Matty.

Matt and the foxy little Carlisle shortstop and quarterback, Frank Mountpleasant, were quite friends.

Matt had pitched Penn to victory that day and couldn't understand why Frank was getting such a kick out of defeat and kept snickering about it.

Finally Frank said, "You wouldn't believe me if I told you." Matt assured him that he would.

"Okay," said the cagey little Indian. "Jim Thorpe batted nine times today."

"Impossible," said Matty.

"Honest, he did, Matt," Frank insisted "You palefaces couldn't tell him from the other big ones; you can only tell big Injuns from little Injuns."

How true that is of many of us. Just know the big shots from the little guys.

The whole country, the whole world, came to know Jim Thorpe, the greatest athlete who ever lived.

Malden Firehouse Meeting Topic

Saugerties, April 18—A reappraisal of the building program of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company was widely discussed at the regular meeting held in the Malden School on Thursday night.

The discussion centered on the completion of the Malden fire station which was in the process of being erected last year and the laying of blocks reached above the window level when activities ceased for the winter months.

Many of the building committee were of the opinion that the original plans for a two-story fire station with a recreation hall on the upper floor could not be erected with the available manpower in the district.

At a previous meeting of the building committee it was brought out that a change of plans to a one-story building would curtail many activities which require a large hall and therefore would hinder fund raising through the means of dances, card parties and other fund raising socials.

Percy Dederick was designated as chairman of the building committee at the meeting.

Fire Chief Valmore Carpenter's report was presented by President William R. Wrolsen. The report presented the details of the brush and garage fire in Asbury and also other brush fires in the area during the past month.

Squirrels and Injuns

By FRANK TRIPP

The President had squirrels, but wait till he gets pigeons. Some fancier's pigeons who fancy that we fancy them arrive early and stay real chummy all day. They're the gabbiest things, these calciminers. We've had squirrels too.

The love coos of the dove may sound sweet to its mate or furnish a swell catchline for Tin Pan Alley, but coed from the eaves outside your window at daybreak they don't inspire affection for any branch of the pigeon family.

We are pretty well fed up on both squirrels and pigeons at our house; stopped buying squirrels nuts and pigeons popcorn many moons ago.

A squirrel can do as much damage inside a house as a crew of house wreckers, just one cute little gray squirrel; and the rascals are clever about getting in; could get in the White House easier than Tom Dewey.

The red ones mind their own business much better, but nobody ever feds a red squirrel, which is pretty dumb of humans.

SPEAKING OF SQUIRRELS around the White House, they don't all have four legs. It was startling news the other day that Ike and Mamie ran up to their Gettysburg retreat without telling the vigilantes. It sorta makes one understand why the Duke of Windsor passed up his job as king.

They feel sorry for him that he couldn't come out flat, like I have, and say that the cunning squirrels can be, and usually are, a cussed nuisance, like pigeons It would offend the two-legged squirrel vote—and the country is full of 'em.

A VICTIM OF GOSSIP

A very unhappy situation is described in the following letter: "I love the theater but unfortunately the town I live in does not have a legitimate theater and except for an occasional play put on at the town hall, I have little opportunity to see any plays. As a surprise, my boy friend sent to New York for tickets to two of the hit shows and when he told me he had received them I was delighted and saw no harm in going to New York with him for the weekend. We stayed at separate hotels and it never occurred to me that anything could possibly come of this. However, while in New York we ran into someone from home and apparently she could not get home fast enough to spread the news that John and I were in New York together, and I have been meeting lifted eyebrows and cool looks from my neighbors ever since my return. I am beginning to feel dowright immoral. I am much hurt and dismayed by their attitude and feel that if I don't say something my reputation will be ruined. Will you help me?"

Unhappily you have put yourself into a very unfortunate position, but whatever you do, take the situation casually. If your friends say anything to you, tell them frankly how you happened to go and the the names of the hotels where you each stayed and that you can't see how anyone can think anything but the truth. Don't elaborate as though it were important, and don't make excuses. Remember the French proverb that says: "He who excuses himself, accuses himself!"

Signing Funeral Register

Dear Mrs. Post: "Will you please tell me the correct way to sign a funeral register? Should it be signed Mrs. John Smith or Mary Smith? Could this be considered in the same light as a hotel register? Would it make a difference if the signer knew the family intimately or only slightly?

Answer: A hotel register is not the same as a funeral register. The latter is a personal record to the family of the deceased of those who called at the time of the funeral. You sign the register Mary Smith unless the family will not know who Mary Smith is. In this case, you would write Mrs. John in parenthesis after your signature.

Is it good taste to use a printed card for acknowledging a personal kindness? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-21, "Model Notes," answers the above and many other questions on notes. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. We stayed at separate hotels and it never occurred to me that anything could possibly come of this. However, while in New York we ran into someone from home and apparently she could not get home fast enough to spread the news that John and I were in New York together, and I have been meeting lifted eyebrows and cool looks from my neighbors ever since my return. I am beginning to feel dowright immoral. I am much hurt and dismayed by their attitude and feel that if I don't say something my reputation will be ruined. Will you help me?"

Unhappily you have put yourself into a very unfortunate position, but whatever you do, take the situation casually. If your friends say anything to you, tell them frankly how you happened to go and the the names of the hotels where you each stayed and that you can't see how anyone can think anything but the truth. Don't elaborate as though it were important, and don't make excuses. Remember the French proverb that says: "He who excuses himself, accuses himself!"

Signing Funeral Register

Dear Mrs. Post: "Will you please tell me the correct way to sign a funeral register? Should it be signed Mrs. John Smith or Mary Smith? Could this be considered in the same light as a hotel register? Would it make a difference if the signer knew the family intimately or only slightly?

Answer: A hotel register is not the same as a funeral register. The latter is a personal record to the family of the deceased of those who called at the time of the funeral. You sign the register Mary Smith unless the family will not know who Mary Smith is. In this case, you would write Mrs. John in parenthesis after your signature.

Is it good taste to use a printed card for acknowledging a personal kindness? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-21, "Model Notes," answers the above and many other questions on notes. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Harriman Signs

Helman of Manhattan sponsored the measure.

Harriman has another bill on his desk that prescribes the same penalties for advertisers who misrepresent their products on television. Both measures extend to TV laws that now cover radio, newspapers, magazines and other publications.

Harriman also approved bills that:

Set dates for the opening and close of the 1955 deer and bear hunting seasons in various sections of the state (Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon, R., Chenango county).

Require—after July 1—a red flag in the daytime and an amber light at night on a load extending more than four feet beyond the front of a motor vehicle (Assemblyman Lawrence W. Van Cleef, R., Seneca county). Current law requires flags and lights only on loads extending from the rear.

Exempt teachers in New York city from serving on juries (Assemblyman John R. Brook, R., Manhattan).

Authorize towns in Saratoga and Warren counties to regulate the size and horsepower of inboard and outboard motors used by boats operated on waters within the towns (Sen. Gilbert T. Seelye, R., Burnt Hills).

India Lifts Ban On Vaccine Monkeys

New Delhi, April 18 (AP)—The Indian government has relaxed—ahead of schedule—its virtual ban on shipments of the monkeys needed to make the Salk polio vaccine.

Officials confirmed reports that the government has started granting licenses more freely for exporting the animals. Previously the sources reported the government had agreed to relax its tight restrictions only after the American National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis established an agent here to assume responsibility for the treatment of the monkeys while in transit.

The foundation had been given until the end of June to set up an agent.

However, the government now has granted permits for several shipments during the next few weeks. Apparently the new leniency resulted from the success of the U. S. tests of the vaccine.

GOP Hits Back

the facts concealed behind his own misstatements." Rep. Keating (R-N. Y.) called the speech a "most unfortunate" setback to bipartisanship in foreign policy.

Hall, the GOP chairman, said in a separate statement "the New Deal peashooters will get nowhere," and predicted efforts by the opposition "to tear down President Eisenhower would fail because the public have learned, above all, he is a man we can trust."

YMCA Has Busy Vacation Period

The YMCA Preps and Juniors, boys between the ages of 8 to 13 years, had a busy week at the "Y" during their school Easter vacation week. Special programs were promoted every morning and afternoon by William Irland, physical director and William Randall, Youth Club director.

The first two days of last week were devoted to special games in the boys recreation rooms, followed by competitive games in the gymnasium and then a swim in the pool. Wednesday afternoon was set aside for the beginners or learners swimming class, at which time many boys were given their first distance test of swimming the length of the pool.

Another group was in the bowling alleys, taking weekly bowling instruction in bowling and this group is making rapid strides. Thursday at 10:30 a. m. many boys brought their lunch. It was clean up day around the "Y".

Friday was open recreation in the game rooms, the gymnasium and swimming pool. Saturday was the big day. The boys under the supervision of both Irland and Randall of the "Y" staff all paid a visit to the Athletic Field on Smith avenue. Here softball was played by the prep group and this was followed by baseball by the cadet group. When the boys left the athletic field they assembled at the "Y" to hear and meet the group from the Ulster County Grand Jury Association. This was followed by colored movies shown with the "Y"'s own movie machine. (Most of the boys watching the movies, sold soap and with the profits, they were able to purchase this fine movie machine), so that a special movie program will be a regular of the "YMCA" program from now on.

Starting this week a newly organized program will be in order for the entire spring period which will conclude at the summer closing of schools, when the big summer program will get underway.

The Mature Parent

'Spoiled' Paul Really Wants A Mother Who Loves Herself

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

After 12 years of childless marriage, the G.'s adopted a baby. As a result, a relative of Mrs. G. says she's "stopped living." She refuses to dress up or tidy her home in order to lavish slavish attention on two-year-old Paul. And he is responding with increasingly "spoiled" and angry behavior.

Writes the relative, "We are disgusted. Though we understand what the child means to her, nobody can tolerate him . . ."

No, Mrs. G.'s relatives do not understand what he means to her. If they did, they would not hold him responsible for her behavior For her treatment of Paul would tell them that Mrs. G. has always suffered from contempt for herself.

They would realize that Paul's coming into her life had merely brought it to light—and given her the acceptable excuse of maternal devotion to lose her worthless self in the self of her adopted child.

So I do not agree with the relatives who think that the solution to her problem is returning Paul to the foundling home.

I think the solution is Mrs. G.'s knowledge of her belief of personal worthlessness. Only then can she refuse to use Paul to vindicate her value. Only then can she begin the moral work of finding a self that does not depend on him for its goodness and usefulness.

To understand the real cause of her helpless absorption in Paul, I expect she will need concrete help that this column cannot provide.

So I suggest that these interested relatives put this to her—and encourage her to ask the foundling home to direct her to some person or agency qualified to give her this concrete help.

In the meantime, I hope the interested relatives will try to recover from their resentment of Paul. They really owe him gratitude for the service he has rendered his mother.

The adults have put up with self-contempt in the person they claim to love. Paul wants no part of it. What he's fighting for is a mother who loves herself.

It is not easy to love oneself when your body insists that you are barren and useless. We need all the love we can get to help us contradict that lie.

Like Mrs. G., we need great love from our families as well as the skill of someone who knows that we are fruitful—and that our body may be just repeating a lie of uselessness told us by hate long, long ago.

Centralization Seen In Millbrook Area

A prediction that voters of 17 school districts in and around Millbrook will establish centralization before the end of this year are made by Fred Cunningham, president of the Millbrook Citizens Organization for Better Schools, last Saturday.

On Friday, Francis Cardinal Spellman had outlined plans for a parochial school in Millbrook village by September, 1957. Cunningham said these announced plans will not alter or delay efforts toward centralization.

the facts concealed behind his own misstatements." Rep. Keating (R-N. Y.) called the speech a "most unfortunate" setback to bipartisanship in foreign policy.

Hall, the GOP chairman, said in a separate statement "the New Deal peashooters will get nowhere," and predicted efforts by the opposition "to tear down President Eisenhower would fail because the public have learned, above all, he is a man we can trust."

YMCA Has Busy Vacation Period

The YMCA Preps and Juniors, boys between the ages of 8 to 13 years, had a busy week at the "Y" during their school Easter vacation week. Special programs were promoted every morning and afternoon by William Irland, physical director and William Randall, Youth Club director.

The first two days of last week were devoted to special games in the boys recreation rooms, followed by competitive games in the gymnasium and then a swim in the pool. Wednesday afternoon was set aside for the beginners or learners swimming class, at which time many boys were given their first distance test of swimming the length of the pool.

Another group was in the bowling alleys, taking weekly bowling instruction in bowling and this group is making rapid strides. Thursday at 10:30 a. m. many boys brought their lunch. It was clean up day around the "Y".

Friday was open recreation in the game rooms, the gymnasium and swimming pool. Saturday was the big day. The boys under the supervision of both Irland and Randall of the "Y" staff all paid a visit to the Athletic Field on Smith avenue. Here softball was played by the prep group and this was followed by baseball by the cadet group. When the boys left the athletic field they assembled at the "Y" to hear and meet the group from the Ulster County Grand Jury Association. This was followed by colored movies shown with the "Y"'s own movie machine. (Most of the boys watching the movies, sold soap and with the profits, they were able to purchase this fine movie machine), so that a special movie program will be a regular of the "YMCA" program from now on.

Starting this week a newly organized program will be in order for the entire spring period which will conclude at the summer closing of schools, when the big summer program will get underway.

Albany, Amsterdam, Beacon, Cohoes, Cortland, Lockport, New Rochelle, Plattsburgh, Poughkeepsie, Rochester, Schenectady, Syracuse, Troy, Watervliet and Yonkers.

Checks have been mailed to the county treasurers who will distribute the money to the fiscal officers of the individual school districts in accordance with apportionment computations made by the State Education Department and audited by the State Department of Audit and Control.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

After 12 years of childless marriage, the G.'s adopted a baby. As a result, a relative of Mrs. G. says she's "stopped living." She refuses to dress up or tidy her home in order to lavish slavish attention on two-year-old Paul. And he is responding with increasingly "spoiled" and angry behavior.

Writes the relative, "We are disgusted. Though we understand what the child means to her, nobody can tolerate him . . ."

No, Mrs. G.'s relatives do not understand what he means to her. If they did, they would not hold him responsible for her behavior For her treatment of Paul would tell them that Mrs. G. has always suffered from contempt for herself.

They would realize that Paul's coming into her life had merely brought it to light—and given her the acceptable excuse of maternal devotion to lose her worthless self in the self of her adopted child.

So I do not agree with the relatives who think that the solution to her problem is returning Paul to the foundling home.

I think the solution is Mrs. G.'s knowledge of her belief of personal worthlessness. Only then can she refuse to use Paul to vindicate her value. Only then can she begin the moral work of finding a self that does not depend on him for its goodness and usefulness.

To understand the real cause of her helpless absorption in Paul, I expect she will need concrete help that this column cannot provide.

So I suggest that these interested relatives put this to her—and encourage her to ask the foundling home to direct her to some person or agency qualified to give her this concrete help.

In the meantime, I hope the interested relatives will try to recover from their resentment of Paul. They really owe him gratitude for the service he has rendered his mother.

The adults have put up with self-contempt in the person they claim to love. Paul wants no part of it. What he's fighting for is a mother who loves herself.

It is not easy to love oneself when your body insists that you are barren and useless. We need all the love we can get to help us contradict that lie.

Like Mrs. G., we need great love from our families as well as the skill of someone who knows that we are fruitful—and that our body may be just repeating a lie of uselessness told us by hate long, long ago.

Centralization Seen In Millbrook Area

A prediction that voters of 17 school districts in and around Millbrook will establish centralization before the end of this year are made by Fred Cunningham, president of the Millbrook Citizens Organization for Better Schools, last Saturday.

On Friday, Francis Cardinal Spellman had outlined plans for a parochial school in Millbrook village by September, 1957. Cunningham said these announced plans will not alter or delay efforts toward centralization.

GEARED TO INFLATION

Economic America is geared to inflation. Any readjustment of the national economy that promises to improve the quality of the dollar via deflation is unpopular. On the contrary, there is public clamor for a continuation of inflationary measures.

For example, the automobile trade union officials are demanding a yearly guaranteed wage. If it is granted, a great industry will be forced into a straitjacket. Such conditions in such a vital industry will surely affect other industries. I think that guaranteed wages will freeze further inflation into the economy. They will take their toll in price levels by putting them higher. Consequently, production and sales and employment will suffer.

THE FLUCTUATION of costs, prices and wages is what gives our economy dynamic force. It furnishes the discipline that economic America needs. Any freezing of costs, prices and wages robs our country of the checks and balance needed.

Additional evidence that the United States is geared to inflation is seen in the price-subsidy operations of our government. As I occasionally mention in this column, any decline in the price level of agricultural products, where great surpluses occur almost immediately, brings forth political demands for bigger subsidies. The country is locked into such a situation.

Unemployment of any consequential importance causes politicians on local, state and national levels to rise up and demand action. Years ago, private industry was the principal driving force behind employment. But today the country tends more and more to turn to the government for aid when people lose their jobs.

THE PROBLEMS outlined above are among those I keep in mind when people with dollars to invest ask what to buy with their money. Dollars and fixed dollar assets are all right in limited amounts. But for long pull investment nothing can take the place of the equities of growing corporations. Today, I shall discuss briefly three industries that will do business in America through thick and thin. Remembering my thesis that inflation is here to stay, and what common stocks can a thousand or a million dollar investor buy for growth and income?

Consider the automobile stocks. In recent months I have visited cities in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan, as well as a dozen leading eastern cities. America travels in automobiles. Traffic is getting worse every year. Double parking in New York city that violates traffic laws and brings fines is the rule and not the exception.

Consequently, when an investor asks me if I would buy a prime automobile equity, I usually say 'yes' with a qualifying word.

Then, I would buy a top-grade oid stock any time if (1) I can get a four per cent or five per cent yield and (2) at the same time get sound growth equity. The good oil stocks are perhaps better purchases than the motors since a buyer can postpone purchasing a car and the older his car becomes, the more oil it uses.

I would also buy good rubber stocks. Tires wear out. Some people drive a car ten years. But, tough as tires are, they don't last forever.

Yes, with America committed to inflation, it is wise policy for most investors to buy sound stocks. Prices may fluctuate widely, but they are values to hold for the long pull.

THE FORUM (Q) "Where can I buy and sell stocks you write about?" (A) From firms that are members of the New York Stock Exchange. These firms have offices all over America. Their names can be found in the classified directory. The manager or the resident partner is the person to ask for in making a call.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in in care of this newspaper.

GEARED TO INFLATION

Economic America is geared to inflation. Any readjustment of the national economy that promises to improve the quality of the dollar via deflation is unpopular. On the contrary, there is public clamor for a continuation of inflationary measures.

For example, the automobile trade union officials are demanding a yearly guaranteed wage. If it is granted, a great industry will be forced into a straitjacket. Such conditions in such a vital industry will surely affect other industries. I think that guaranteed wages will freeze further inflation into the economy. They will take their toll in price levels by putting them higher. Consequently, production and sales and employment will suffer.

THE FLUCTUATION of costs, prices and wages is what gives our economy dynamic force. It furnishes the discipline that economic America needs. Any freezing of costs, prices and wages robs our country of the checks and balance needed.

Additional evidence that the United States is geared to inflation is seen in the price-subsidy operations of our government. As I occasionally mention in this column, any decline in the price level of agricultural products, where great surpluses occur almost immediately, brings forth political demands for bigger subsidies. The country is locked into such a situation.

Unemployment of any consequential importance causes politicians on local, state and national levels to rise up and demand action. Years ago, private industry was the principal driving force behind employment. But today the country tends more and more to turn to the government for aid when people lose their jobs.

THE PROBLEMS outlined above are among those I keep in mind when people with dollars to invest ask what to buy with their money. Dollars and fixed dollar assets are all right in limited amounts. But for long pull investment nothing can take the place of the equities of growing corporations. Today, I shall discuss briefly three industries that will do business in America through thick and thin. Remembering my thesis that inflation is here to stay, and what common stocks can a thousand or a million dollar investor buy for growth and income?

Consider the automobile stocks. In recent months I have visited cities in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan, as well as a dozen leading eastern cities. America travels in automobiles. Traffic is getting worse every year. Double parking in New York city that violates traffic laws and brings fines is the rule and not the exception.

Consequently, when an investor asks me if I would buy a prime automobile equity, I usually say 'yes' with a qualifying word.

Then, I would buy a top-grade oid stock any time if (1) I can get a four per cent or five per cent yield and (2) at the same time get sound growth equity. The good oil stocks are perhaps better purchases than the motors since a buyer can postpone purchasing a car and the older his car becomes, the more oil it uses.

I would also buy good rubber stocks. Tires wear out. Some people drive a car ten years. But, tough as tires are, they don't last forever.

Yes, with America committed to inflation, it is wise policy for most investors to buy sound stocks. Prices may fluctuate widely, but they are values to hold for the long pull.

THE FORUM (Q) "Where can I buy and sell stocks you write about?" (A) From firms that are members of the New York Stock Exchange. These firms have offices all over America. Their names can be found in the classified directory. The manager or the resident partner is the person to ask for in making a call.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in in care of this newspaper.

Here's Example of Good Opening Bid

South's opening bid of four spades in today's hand was a good choice. An expert will often make an opening bid of three with a broken suit and a desperate mood, but the opening bid of four is reserved for more solid hands.

In this case the bid worked, for the opponents were shut out of the auction. If the bidding had been tame, East might have found the cheap sacrifice of five diamonds, which would have cost only 100 points.

Mind you, a sacrifice of 100 points would have been no glorious victory for East-West since they could have beaten four spades. In fact, however, they let South make the vulnerable game; and this cost them far more than 100 points.

West opened the king of clubs, and dummy won. When a low heart was returned from dummy, East was afraid to play low. East's ace caught West's king, and East returned the ten of hearts. South covered with the queen, and West ruffed.

Now West had to get back to his partner's hand for another heart ruff. It was clear that East had led the highest heart available in order to request a return in the higher side suit—diamonds rather than clubs. When West obediently led a diamond, South ruffed, drew trumps and claimed ten tricks.

If West had led the queen of clubs instead of a diamond, East would have ruffed. A heart return would then defeat the contract.

House-to-House

Gloucester, Va. (AP) — W. N. Gray was glad he acted the part of a good Samaritan and called the fire department to a blaze in a nearby house in the middle of the night. While the firemen fought the flames Gray took a look at another section of the night sky. A house he owned was burning too. The firemen moved over to Gray's personal blaze and managed to save a farm building although they couldn't do much about the house.

ITS A SMALL WORLD

Charm of Miniatures Is Universal Magnet

AFTER MIDGET MICE?—Kitty's no monster, even though she's half as big as the wine shop on whose roof she perches. The "shop" is part of the village of "Bekonscot", an authentic miniature town on a two-acre site at Beaconsfield, England.

MODEL MODEL—Young William Deckery is properly awe-struck as he examines the realistic details of this prize-winning model of an old-time railway engine house. Built by John MacGowan, of Richmond Hill, N. Y., it was voted "best in the show" at the 25th annual exhibit of the New York Society of Model Engineers.

SKYSCRAPING WORKER—The colossus looming as big as the 24-story building in the background is William H Cullen, maintenance man at the Ford Rotunda, Dearborn, Mich. Painting a miniature jet-mobile, he stands astride the monorail train and elevated two-level highway in the "City of the Future", a scale-model conception of city life 50 years hence.

RAMPARTS HE WATCHES—S. D. Deboo looks like a giant in Lilliput. But he's just putting finishing touches on a miniature castle that will be part of a scale model Tudor village at the White Rock Gardens in Hastings, England.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Had a telephone call from La Harpe, Ill., from Mrs. H. W. Smith. I have had some correspondence with Mrs. Smith back in 1953 as she is trying to locate information on her great-grandfather, Samuel Hamilton Warner, who it seems, ran a grocery store in Rondout back around 1850. From time to time folks send me checks to do research work which I usually send back as I do not feel I can give it adequate time. As a rule my readers correspond with each other and that way exchange necessary information. So when Mrs. Smith received her check back today she phoned me for further information. I take it, her great-grandfather, Mr. Warner left Rondout in 1852 for Illinois. Mrs. Smith seems unfamiliar with Kingston and Rondout so I told her ever the phone "I am in Rondout right now, it incorporated with Kingston in 1872." Who knows perhaps I am right in the business section where her great-grandfather had his grocery store. The telephone is a remarkable invention and I simply cannot stay calm when I can get a phone call 900 miles distant and hear a pleasant voice and in a few seconds we are talking like neighbors. You could not do that back in 1852 when her great-grandfather left Rondout for Illinois. I wonder how he went and how long it took him to get there. Now by air, you can make it to California in 10 hours. What a world this is getting to be.

From time to time I have mentioned that often New York folks like to retire to our Catskill Mts. Not because it is so quiet up here, it certainly is not quiet lately, but I think they come here mostly because of the natural beauty of the section. I just read about Bob Peck, the dean of newspaper rewrite men now retiring at the age of 70 to c ome up to his home near Shokan with his wife. His son, Robert Jr., lives up that way, so he will be no stranger to these parts. The Pecks will spend seven months in Shokan, and the winters in Charleston, S. C. with their son Thomas, who is the telegraph editor of the Charleston News and Courier.

No doubt many folks in Shokan know R. B. Peck. He was born in Clinton, his father was a well-known physician. Some of the famous stories Mr. Peck covered were on the Titanic and also the sinking of the Lusitania, and the Wall street explosion. His job was to re-write stories phoned in to him by excited reporters who dug them up. It was Mr. Peck's job to put all the facts together in orderly fashion and then in turn write it up so that the readers became excited enough to want to finish reading it. His talent is the important art that makes folks grab the newspaper every day and read it from cover to cover. Every story must sound exciting and thrilling and hold the reader's interest. That is a big order, and Mr. Peck did it for a half a century. He had that certain talent that it seems he could turn on like water from a faucet that is so rare. I think if a list of folks who retire to the Catskill Mts. would be made there would be many impressive names and talents such as Bob Peck posesses. But I guess when folks retire, they want to be left alone to do as they please, and they can do it up here.

Hearing on Changes

Albany, April 18 (AP)—The Agriculture Department will hold public hearings in the state office building here next week on proposed changes in regulations for egg grading and slaughter houses. On April 25 testimony will be taken on proposed rules that would require slaughter houses to be equipped with running hot water, would forbid wooden floors and would establish new refrigeration standards. On April 26, witnesses will be heard on a plan to make the egg-grading rules conform with federal regulations.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Robin Hood was a kind-hearted robber. He stole from the rich and gave to the poor. But he kept plenty for himself. He got the dough by sticking up the "coach and four" on the King's highways. His first name was Robin, but if he had spelled it "Robbin" it would have been the same.

Mr. Hutton

In the early 1930's, lo and behold a group of "robbin' hoods" appeared on the American scene. They robbed them who had, and passed some of it on to those who didn't have. But, in legal jargon, it wasn't illegal because they declared it legal. They called it a "tax."

Robin Hood didn't take more than the stagecoach folks had in silver or gold. He left the poor folks alone. The modern "robbin' hoods" were also "humanitarians," but operated differently. They said they'd take from the rich and divide with the poor. That's the way they were supposed to work! But they didn't.

They slapped a withholding tax on the poor folks also, down to anything over $600.

Now the boys on Capitol Hill have voted themselves a raise in "their" take of the total swag. It's as crooked as a mountain trail.

The taxpayer was trapped, and couldn't escape. None of the "boys" told their constituents last fall that they planned to do this. A jump in salary would have been o.k. after they had balanced the budget; and another bonus when they reduced the national debt 10%. But until then, it ain't no different from stagecoach days.

Lads, you should have earned your salary first!

Richfield Picks Newspaper Ads As Best Medium

Richfield Oil Corporation will use newspapers exclusively for the second successive year, to herald the arrival of "New Richfield Ethyl" gasoline throughout its eastern seaboard distributor-marketing territory from Maine to Florida, it is announced jointly by the agency, Morey, Humm & Johnstone, and the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Newspapers were chosen as the major medium for the company's 1955 advertising "because our experience has indicated their strong local impact gives best results both to Richfield and to the independent distributors who market our products," it was stated by B. N. Pollak, advertising manager.

The new gasoline, according to the ad copy, gives cars "extra power and top mileage" as the result of "new extra-high-octane refining methods and chemical elements added for extra power and to prevent corrosion."

A distinctive feature of the campaign, which will appear in more than 100 newspapers starting April 18, will be a series of "cartoon adventure" ads in comic-strip form, chosen because of their high reader interest. The campaign will start with large-space introductory ads, to be followed throughout the rest of the year by the cartoon ads.

Richfield Picks Newspaper Ads As Best Medium

Richfield Oil Corporation will use newspapers exclusively for the second successive year, to herald the arrival of "New Richfield Ethyl" gasoline throughout its eastern seaboard distributor-marketing territory from Maine to Florida, it is announced jointly by the agency, Morey, Humm & Johnstone, and the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Newspapers were chosen as the major medium for the company's 1955 advertising "because our experience has indicated their strong local impact gives best results both to Richfield and to the independent distributors who market our products," it was stated by B. N. Pollak, advertising manager.

The new gasoline, according to the ad copy, gives cars "extra power and top mileage" as the result of "new extra-high-octane refining methods and chemical elements added for extra power and to prevent corrosion."

A distinctive feature of the campaign, which will appear in more than 100 newspapers starting April 18, will be a series of "cartoon adventure" ads in comic-strip form, chosen because of their high reader interest. The campaign will start with large-space introductory ads, to be followed throughout the rest of the year by the cartoon ads.

Kingston Bowling Association Elects Mannie Colao President

Irwin Thomas Chosen; Spaulding Life Member Tourney Handicap-80%

The Kingston Bowling Association elevated Emmanuel "Mannie" Colao to the presidency and re-elected Irwin J. Thomas to his fifth consecutive term as secretary at its annual meeting Sunday. Thomas also holds the post of treasurer.

Howard I. Spaulding was elected to life membership.

Colao, who succeeds Eddie Norton is regarded as one of the most enthusiastic bowling boosters in the community. He served as interim president in 1951-52; executive committeeman in 1950-51; and was first vice president three years.

SPAULDING WAS KHA president in 1947-48; served two terms as first vice president; one term as second vice president and another as fourth vice president. He was a member of the executive committee in 1948-49.

BOB MARKLE was re-elected Rosendale representative to the board. Bill Keiley was named from New Paltz.

Delegates defeated a motion to use 100 per cent handicap in city association tournaments by a 106-50 vote. They then voted 138-35 to operate all future tournaments at 80 per cent. This is a five per cent drop from this year's championships.

The KBA also pledged its support of the KWBA's junior bowling program.

MEMBERS retired from the board were Herman Arlensky, Eddie Auclair, Bill Lawrence, William Murray and Mike Mostransky. New members are Blinder, Colao, Petersen, Crospell and Keiley.

Leagues represented at the meeting were:

Trabert Delays Entry in Pros

Houston, April 18 (AP)—Tony Trabert, looking more each day like the heir apparent to Vic Seixas' National tennis championship, says he won't turn pro at least before the next Davis Cup challenge round.

Trabert was top-seeded for the 21st Annual River Oaks Country Club tournament which started today. He won his fifth straight tournament over Seixas at Dallas yesterday.

"I CERTAINLY wouldn't turn pro before the challenge round," Trabert said in answer to rumors he is ready to enter the play-for-pay ranks. "And there's no certainty that if I win some of the big tournaments I will turn pro then."

The 25-year-old Trabert literally blew Seixas off the court with his great all-around power and speed. Seixas had been troubled with a virus infection picked up in Puerto Rico and was far from his peak, but Trabert was magnificent. He won 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Seixas was the defending champion here and was seeking his third straight title. He teamed with Trabert to win the doubles crown. The Trabert-Seixas duo downed Dick Savitt of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Tom Brown of San Francisco, 6-3, 10-8, 6-4.

Monday Morning Quotes: The New York-New Jersey Semi-Pro League has invited Governors Harriman and Meyner to take part in opening day ceremonies. The league gets under way May 29 at Newburgh. Kingston opener at Dietz Stadium is set for Saturday, June 11.

Press association reports have been referring to the new born circuit as New Jersey-New York. With a 5-1 ratio of franchises in favor of New York state, we think the title should be just the reverse.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Remember George "Sugar" Scherger, the peppery pilot of the 1947 Kingston Dodgers of the North Atlantic League? He's still mired in Class B baseball in the Brooklyn chain at Newport News, Va., of the Piedmont League. Scherger had great managerial talent and hustle but an unbridled temper got him into plenty of trouble along the way and hampered his advancement. Joe Benjamin has abandoned baseball umpiring in order to concentrate on his flourishing florist business in Saugerties. . . . Phil Corrado, the man who followed Leo Durocher across the Brooklyn Bridge to the Polo Grounds, predicts a Subway Series between the Giants and Yankees. . . . If the Dandy Little Manager decided to leave the Giants for, let's say, the Pittsburgh Pirates, Phil would drop The Heroes like a hot potato.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH: Junie McMahon was featured in a bowling writeup last Saturday—not great news—but this article was in the New York Times—sure proof that bowling has arrived.

• The Baseball Beat:

Clark Mains of Port Ewent and Joe Benjamin Jr. of Saugerties have survived early cuts at the New York Giant minor league training camp at Melbourne, Fla. Mains, as a service man, has to be retained for a year but he writes friends there are "59 others" in that same category. But Clark has the equipment to stick and Benjamin is almost sure to land with Mayfield, Ky., of the Kitty League. Time Flies Department: Gil Kelder and his lovely daughter watching the amateur boxing bouts. Nick Kaslich, the ageless promoter of pocket billiards, now past 65 but looking not a day older than the first time we met him 25 years ago.

• Walker High on Bobo Olson:

Mickey Walker, the budding artist who fought them all, from 147 pounds right up to Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling, feels Bobo can do it, so says Harry Grayson.

The old welter and middleweight king says that "Olson at 60 pounds (boxing people also drop the first digit when talking weights) is no puncher. But an Olson at 69 or 70 can hit hard enough to bother anybody. He tipped Maxim, a strong fellow, ad he could hurt Marciano, too.

"He would have to," Walker went on, "fight a different fight against Marciano—and Moore, too. He couldn't wade into those punchers. But he's so quick that he could slip punches and take good pot shots at them. And he could hurt 'em. Yes, I like his chances very much.

"Marciano, a great puncher, and Olson would be an exciting battle. I know I'd take it in," says the old Toy Bulldog.

So would most everybody else. Including Jack Kearns, who would have a piece of everything except the hot dog concession.

Joneses First At Dover Lanes

Jones Dairy's all-star squad shot 3000 to capture the gross division of the Dover Plains 5-man sweepstakes Sunday. Their net score of 2862 missed by only two pins of a sweep of both divisions.

JOHN FERRARO led Joneses with a 634 series, a score that earned him individual triple honors in the tournament. He fired lines of 183, 207 and 244.

McCloskey Sparks 74-58 Victory

Rapp's Express gained a measure of revenge for blowing the YMCA "B" League pennant to Wimpy's Grill by whipping the champions, 74-58, in the Shaughnessy finals, Saturday at the Y court.

A couple of tremendous individual performances by Phil McCloskey of the winners and Beaky Smith of Wimpy's highlighted the game.

In the final analysis, the Expressmen had too many guns in the clutch. McCloskey meshed 31 points and Smith fired 30, but Rapp's had three other players in double figures to Wimpy's one.

RAPPS GRABBED an early lead—17-8 at the quarter—and finished strongly. The Grillmen closed to within three points midway in the final period but McClosky and Bibs Kozlowski stoked a Rapps blaze to score 19 points between them in the stretch run.

John Tomaseskie played another strong game for Rapps, racking up 17 points, including the first six of the contest for a quick 6-0 lead. Kozlowski finished with 13 and Ronnie Ashdown had 11.

Ronnie Diamond canned 10 points for Wimpy's.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
(NEA Shooting Editor)

In the spring at least for us old crocks, the early days of the crocuses bring reminders to get out and refurbish the varmint rifles.

Lots of odd things can happen to a favorite gun over the winter. If last fall you weren't studiously careful about filming it all over with RIG or some good anti-corrosion oil, or didn't seal it in one of those VPI bags, it may have acquired a few freckles of rust. Won't affect Old Betsy's shooting qualities, but they certainly don't look well.

SOMETIMES A coarse cloth soaked in powder solvent or oil will cut off the rust; more usually not. Then, pending the time when you have a reblueing job as penalty for last fall's carelessness, a delicate touching with the finest steel wool or very fine-grained emery paper, likewise doused in oil, will remove the red blemishes, though not any pits that were eaten in as the steel oxidized.

And the strangest things can happen to stock wood. Say you live in a cold climate and the musket has been stored all winter in a steam or hot-air heated room. Chances are the low humidity has dried out the stock, possibly shrunk it away from that precise contact with barrel and action metal that gave you pin-hole accuracy last year.

NO CURE FOR that save a rebedding job if the targets don't show Betsy is back to snuff after you've tightened the guard screws. And conversely, if yours is a damp climate, telltale swells of wood around the tangs or around the edges of the buttplate are giveaways that absorbed moisture has started your stock growing a trifle, perhaps warping it under the barrel or around the action. Not only has your pet rifle shifted its point of impact decidedly, but has also gone sour accuracy-wise. Chances are that'll call for some touch-up with an inletting tool.

For reasons which will always remain a mystery to me, the screws in sights and mounts have a trick of loosening with the passage of time. It doesn't make sense, but it does seem to happen—unless said screws have been locked in with a drop on the threads of shellac, nail polish or even a crystal or two of salt (which rusts 'em in, effectively if not handsomely) when you installed the sights a year or so ago. It's always worth a minute or two, before you head for the range for the first preseason shooting, to set up on every screw you can reach.

MATTER OF FACT, since any rifle will shift its point of impact a bit after a six-month layoff, so that you'll have to retarget before taking that first whack at any early season crow, it's well worthwhile to strip the whole weapon down. Flush off any old lubricant that may have gummed over the winter, clean out accumulated dust and start that pet rifle out fresh.

Train Kills Dog

Ithaca, April 18 (AP)—A mongrel dog, slowed by the infirmities of his 17 years, was struck and injured fatally by a train he had met faithfully for a decade. Brownie was given his regular feast of bones and table scraps last Monday night when he greeted the dining-car cooks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad's Black Diamond Express. The diner hit him as he started across the tracks for home. Owner Joseph Ksenak said, "I don't think the train crew knew what happened."

A LOT OF ACTION can be expected Friday night when 19-year-old Willie Pastrano faces Wille (No Clinch) Troy of Washington in a 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium (10 p. m., EST—NBC-TV and radio). Win or lose, the hard-working Troy makes a lively fight. Pastrano made good on March 23 when he whipped Al Andrews in the same arena.

TONIGHT'S (Monday) network TV fights feature middleweights and welterweights, boxing's two busiest divisions. Salt Lake City's Milo Savage, another crowd-pleasing 160-pounder, meets Bobby Boyd of Chicago in a 10 at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (10 p. m., EST, Dumont-TV). In the rival show at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena (10 p. m., EST., ATC-TV), welters Johnny Busso of New York and Gene Poirer of Niagara Falls, collide in the top 10. Poirer was the last man to beat Tony DeMarco, the current welterweight king. Gene beat DeMarco in an eight rounder on May 15, 1952.

REX LANE, a heavyweight who has seen better days, faces Willie Jackson of Canada in a 10 at Salt Lake City Tuesday night. The same night in Miami Beach, light heavyweight Bob Satterfield mixes with Joe Lindsay of Brooklyn.

DiMag Says Junior Loop Weakest in Years

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

Tony said to me, "Harry, I want you to meet Joe DiMaggio. He's going to be a great ball player."

DiMAGGIO, long one of the best dressed men, was immaculate in a costly brown suit. Except for a sprinkling of gray through his hair, he looked as if he could move into center field for the Yankees today.

"I weigh four pounds less than what was my best playing weight," the old Yankee Clipper smiled. "But the shoulders went on me....and that did it.

Why is it, a fellow sitting with him asked, that DiMaggio, one of the great players of the game, has not remained in baseball in some capacity?

"I don't want an office job," replied Joe, currently weighing business propositions. "I don't like working eight hours inside every day. Managing, coaching, scouting and that stuff isn't my line. I always said that when I quit playing I'd quit baseball."

DiMAGGIO WOULD like to run a boys camp, have something to do with an operation like Little League baseball.

A DiMaggio, it was observed, could certainly do baseball, especially the sagging and rather sick American League, a carload of good in some capacity.

"I never remembered the league being this bad," he said. "When we used to win the pennant by 19 or 20 games, we still were beating good clubs. The rest were bunched. They had good players.

"Now it's a two-club race. The rest of them are in bad shape. And if either the Yankees or Indians run away, it will be terrible."

Troops Break Truce

Saigon, South Viet Nam, April 18 (AP)—Binh Xuyen troops shattered Saigon's uneasy truce today, firing on vehicles of the National army. The army said one of its soldiers was killed and another kidnaped. The National forces loyal to embattled Premier Ngo Dinh Diem went on an immediate alert.

FORM FOR THE FUTURE—Rafer Johnson, winner of the Pan-American Games decathlon, set no records while doing so, but indications are the 19-year-old UCLA student—he's only a freshman—still is improving and figures to be America's big hope for the 1956 Olympic event. The youngster shows his form in the javelin, pole vault and high hurdles.

Kingston Bowling Association Elects Mannie Colao President

The Kingston Bowling Association elevated Emmanuel "Mannie" Colao to the presidency and re-elected Irwin J. Thomas to his fifth consecutive term as secretary at its annual meeting Sunday. Thomas also holds the post of treasurer.

Howard I. Spaulding was elected to life membership.

Colao, who succeeds Eddie Norton is regarded as one of the most enthusiastic bowling boosters in the community. He served as interim president in 1951-52; executive committeeman in 1950-51; and was first vice president three years.

SPAULDING WAS KHA president in 1947-48; served two terms as first vice president; one term as second vice president and another as fourth vice president. He was a member of the executive committee in 1948-49.

The new slate of officers for the 1955-56 calendar year follows.

1st vice-president — Thomas Orr.
2nd vice-president—Jack Blinder.
3rd vice-president—John Fatum.
4th vice-president — Richard Waltman.
Secretary-treasurer—Irwin J. Thomas.
Executive Committee: Edward Norton, Eltinge S. Auchmoody, Larry Petersen Jr. and Burgell Crispell.
Life Member — Howard I. Spaulding.

BOB MARKLE was re-elected Rosendale representative to the board. Bill Keiley was named from New Paltz.

Delegates defeated a motion to use 100 per cent handicap in city association tournaments by a 106-50 vote. They then voted 138-35 to operate all future tournaments at 80 per cent. This is a five per cent drop from this year's championships.

The KBA also pledged its support of the KWBA's junior bowling program.

MEMBERS retired from the board were Herman Arlensky, Eddie Auclair, Bill Lawrence, William Murray and Mike Mostransky. New members are Blinder, Colao, Petersen, Crospell and Keiley.

Leagues represented at the meeting were:

YMCA Mercantile (National and American); Rosendale News, Everybody's, Junior Major, No-Can-Do, Sportsmen's Major, City Minor, Ferraro Major, Tavern Association, IBM Men, Central Rec Mixed, Ferraro Classic, Good Neighbor, Booster, Sunset, Merchants, Hudson Valley (4 teams).

Albany Keglers Take Gross Lead

Elmira, April 18 (AP) — The New York state men's bowling tournament moved into its fifth full week today with the Mobilgrease five-man team from Albany holding the lead in the team handicap division.

Mobilgrease rolled up a score of 3,178 over the weekend to displace the Onaping Club of Montour Falls in the top spot.

Joe Di Figlia of Buffalo took the lead in the championship all-events division with a 1,935, the first score exceeding 1,900 in the division this year.

Trabert Delays Entry in Pros

Houston, April 18 (AP)—Tony Trabert, looking more each day like the heir apparent to Vic Seixas' National tennis championship, says he won't turn pro at least before the next Davis Cup challenge round.

Trabert was top-seeded for the 21st Annual River Oaks Country Club tournament which started today. He won his fifth straight tournament over Seixas at Dallas yesterday.

"I CERTAINLY wouldn't turn pro before the challenge round," Trabert said in answer to rumors he is ready to enter the play-for-pay ranks. "And there's no certainty that if I win some of the big tournaments I will turn pro then."

The 25-year-old Trabert literally blew Seixas off the court with his great all-around power and speed. Seixas had been troubled with a virus infection picked up in Puerto Rico and was far from his peak, but Trabert was magnificent. He won 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Seixas was the defending champion here and was seeking his third straight title. He teamed with Trabert to win the doubles crown. The Trabert-Seixas duo downed Dick Savitt of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Tom Brown of San Francisco, 6-3, 10-8, 6-4.

Monday Morning Quotes: The New York-New Jersey Semi-Pro League has invited Governors Harriman and Meyner to take part in opening day ceremonies. The league gets under way May 29 at Newburgh. Kingston opener at Dietz Stadium is set for Saturday, June 11.

Press association reports have been referring to the new born circuit as New Jersey-New York. With a 5-1 ratio of franchises in favor of New York state, we think the title should be just the reverse.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Remember George "Sugar" Scherger, the peppery pilot of the 1947 Kingston Dodgers of the North Atlantic League? He's still mired in Class B baseball in the Brooklyn chain at Newport News, Va., of the Piedmont League. Scherger had great managerial talent and hustle but an unbridled temper got him into plenty of trouble along the way and hampered his advancement. Joe Benjamin has abandoned baseball umpiring in order to concentrate on his flourishing florist business in Saugerties. . . . Phil Corrado, the man who followed Leo Durocher across the Brooklyn Bridge to the Polo Grounds, predicts a Subway Series between the Giants and Yankees. . . . If the Dandy Little Manager decided to leave the Giants for, let's say, the Pittsburgh Pirates, Phil would drop The Heroes like a hot potato.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH: Junie McMahon was featured in a bowling writeup last Saturday—not great news—but this article was in the New York Times—sure proof that bowling has arrived.

• The Baseball Beat:

Clark Mains of Port Ewent and Joe Benjamin Jr. of Saugerties have survived early cuts at the New York Giant minor league training camp at Melbourne, Fla. Mains, as a service man, has to be retained for a year but he writes friends there are "59 others" in that same category. But Clark has the equipment to stick and Benjamin is almost sure to land with Mayfield, Ky., of the Kitty League. Time Flies Department: Gil Kelder and his lovely daughter watching the amateur boxing bouts. Nick Kaslich, the ageless promoter of pocket billiards, now past 65 but looking not a day older than the first time we met him 25 years ago.

• Walker High on Bobo Olson:

Mickey Walker, the budding artist who fought them all, from 147 pounds right up to Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling, feels Bobo can do it, so says Harry Grayson.

The old welter and middleweight king says that "Olson at 60 pounds (boxing people also drop the first digit when talking weights) is no puncher. But an Olson at 69 or 70 can hit hard enough to bother anybody. He tipped Maxim, a strong fellow, ad he could hurt Marciano, too.

"He would have to," Walker went on, "fight a different fight against Marciano—and Moore, too. He couldn't wade into those punchers. But he's so quick that he could slip punches and take good pot shots at them. And he could hurt 'em. Yes, I like his chances very much.

"Marciano, a great puncher, and Olson would be an exciting battle. I know I'd take it in," says the old Toy Bulldog.

So would most everybody else. Including Jack Kearns, who would have a piece of everything except the hot dog concession.

McCloskey Sparks 74-58 Victory

Rapp's Express gained a measure of revenge for blowing the YMCA "B" League pennant to Wimpy's Grill by whipping the champions, 74-58, in the Shaughnessy finals, Saturday at the Y court.

In the final analysis, the Expressmen had too many guns in the clutch. McCloskey meshed 31 points and Smith fired 30, but Rapp's had three other players in double figures to Wimpy's one.

RAPPS GRABBED an early lead—17-8 at the quarter—and finished strongly. The Grillmen closed to within three points midway in the final period but McClosky and Bibs Kozlowski stoked a Rapps blaze to score 19 points between them in the stretch run.

John Tomaseskie played another strong game for Rapps, racking up 17 points, including the first six of the contest for a quick 6-0 lead. Kozlowski finished with 13 and Ronnie Ashdown had 11.

Ronnie Diamond canned 10 points for Wimpy's.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
(NEA Shooting Editor)

In the spring at least for us old crocks, the early days of the crocuses bring reminders to get out and refurbish the varmint rifles.

Lots of odd things can happen to a favorite gun over the winter. If last fall you weren't studiously careful about filming it all over with RIG or some good anti-corrosion oil, or didn't seal it in one of those VPI bags, it may have acquired a few freckles of rust. Won't affect Old Betsy's shooting qualities, but they certainly don't look well.

SOMETIMES A coarse cloth soaked in powder solvent or oil will cut off the rust; more usually not. Then, pending the time when you have a reblueing job as penalty for last fall's carelessness, a delicate touching with the finest steel wool or very fine-grained emery paper, likewise doused in oil, will remove the red blemishes, though not any pits that were eaten in as the steel oxidized.

And the strangest things can happen to stock wood. Say you live in a cold climate and the musket has been stored all winter in a steam or hot-air heated room. Chances are the low humidity has dried out the stock, possibly shrunk it away from that precise contact with barrel and action metal that gave you pin-hole accuracy last year.

NO CURE FOR that save a rebedding job if the targets don't show Betsy is back to snuff after you've tightened the guard screws. And conversely, if yours is a damp climate, telltale swells of wood around the tangs or around the edges of the buttplate are giveaways that absorbed moisture has started your stock growing a trifle, perhaps warping it under the barrel or around the action. Not only has your pet rifle shifted its point of impact decidedly, but has also gone sour accuracy-wise. Chances are that'll call for some touch-up with an inletting tool.

For reasons which will always remain a mystery to me, the screws in sights and mounts have a trick of loosening with the passage of time. It doesn't make sense, but it does seem to happen—unless said screws have been locked in with a drop on the threads of shellac, nail polish or even a crystal or two of salt (which rusts 'em in, effectively if not handsomely) when you installed the sights a year or so ago. It's always worth a minute or two, before you head for the range for the first preseason shooting, to set up on every screw you can reach.

MATTER OF FACT, since any rifle will shift its point of impact a bit after a six-month layoff, so that you'll have to retarget before taking that first whack at any early season crow, it's well worthwhile to strip the whole weapon down. Flush off any old lubricant that may have gummed over the winter, clean out accumulated dust and start that pet rifle out fresh.

Train Kills Dog

Ithaca, April 18 (AP)—A mongrel dog, slowed by the infirmities of his 17 years, was struck and injured fatally by a train he had met faithfully for a decade. Brownie was given his regular feast of bones and table scraps last Monday night when he greeted the dining-car cooks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad's Black Diamond Express. The diner hit him as he started across the tracks for home. Owner Joseph Ksenak said, "I don't think the train crew knew what happened."

DiMag Says Junior Loop Weakest in Years

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

Tony said to me, "Harry, I want you to meet Joe DiMaggio. He's going to be a great ball player."

DiMAGGIO, long one of the best dressed men, was immaculate in a costly brown suit. Except for a sprinkling of gray through his hair, he looked as if he could move into center field for the Yankees today.

"I weigh four pounds less than what was my best playing weight," the old Yankee Clipper smiled. "But the shoulders went on me....and that did it.

Why is it, a fellow sitting with him asked, that DiMaggio, one of the great players of the game, has not remained in baseball in some capacity?

"I don't want an office job," replied Joe, currently weighing business propositions. "I don't like working eight hours inside every day. Managing, coaching, scouting and that stuff isn't my line. I always said that when I quit playing I'd quit baseball."

DiMAGGIO WOULD like to run a boys camp, have something to do with an operation like Little League baseball.

A DiMaggio, it was observed, could certainly do baseball, especially the sagging and rather sick American League, a carload of good in some capacity.

"I never remembered the league being this bad," he said. "When we used to win the pennant by 19 or 20 games, we still were beating good clubs. The rest were bunched. They had good players.

"Now it's a two-club race. The rest of them are in bad shape. And if either the Yankees or Indians run away, it will be terrible."

Bosox Doin' Right Well Without Mr. T. Williams

By JOE REICHLER
(The Associated Press)

Ted Williams was still some two thousand miles away from Fenway Park today, but could it be that the Boston Red Sox have been using the power-laden bats he left behind?

The end of the first week of the infant baseball season finds the Red Sox not only leading the American League with five victories in six games, but also on top with an astonishing .330 team batting average and 11 home runs.

The Red Sox yesterday pounded eight Baltimore pitchers for 30 hits, sweeping a doubleheader from the Orioles 14-5 and 12-9 to leap past Cleveland and New York and grab a full-game lead on the field.

FAYE THRONEBERRY, 23-year-old ex-GI filling in for Williams in left field, has done the most toward easing the big guy's absence. The Memphis, Tenn., sophomore, clubbing at a torrid .400, is tied for the league lead with 12 runs batted in. His 10 hits include four doubles and three home runs. He rapped four hits yesterday including a double and home run, drove in four and scored six times.

Catcher Sammy White, another .400 hitter so far, drove home seven runs with five hits including a double and home run. Jackie Jensen, batting .455, knocked in four runs with six hits including a double, triple and homer. Ted Lepcio collected four hits to boost his average to .348 and Billy Goodman is hitting .364.

Ordinarily, no one would dare use Williams' bats without his permission but the club ordered a dozen for Ted this year expicting his return.

BOSTON SHARED Sunday's spotlight with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who remained unbeaten by sweeping a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 10-3 and 3-2. Johnny Podres and Clem Labine pitched the fifth and sixth victories for the Dodgers, who now are only three behind the modern record of nine consecutive victories at the start of the season. Four teams hold that mark including the Dodgers, who were the last to do it, in 1940.

Philadelphia's Phillies stunned the Giants with a pair of 4-2 victories to drop New York into a sixth place tie with Cincinnati. The Giants, who didn't lose a doubleheader all last year, now have won only one game against five defeats.

A 10-run first inning started St. Louis off to a 14-1 runaway over Chicago after the Cubs had nipped the Cards in the opener 6-5 with two runs in the ninth. Cardinal outfielder Harry Elliott got seven hits in the twin bill.

CINCINNATI also pulled out a ninth inning 6-5 victory to gain a split with Milwaukee after the Braves had run off with the opener 10-1. It was the Reds' first victory after five straight defeats.

Cleveland and Chicago split a doubleheader, the Indians winning 4-2 behind Bob Lemon's five-hitter after southpaw Jack Harshman had pitched the White Sox to a 3-1 triumph in the opener. Johnny Schmitz and Spec Shea combined to pitch Washington to a 7-3 victory over their former New York Yankee teammates as Mickey Vernon and Roy Sievers hammered homers against Eddie Lopat.

Young Al Kaline hit three home runs, two of them in the sixth inning to tie a major league record, as Detroit romped to a 16-0 rout of Kansas City. Steve Gromek yielded seven hits for his second victory, both against the Athletics.

THE 20-YEAR-OLD Kaline also singled to drive in six runs, giving him 12 for the season. The young outfielder, the 13th player to hit two homers in an inning, currently leads both leagues with a .560 batting average on 14 hits in 25 times at bat.

Vernon and Sievers accounted for all Washington's runs as the Senators defeated an old nemesis in Lopat, who had whipped the Nats 27 times in 36 decisions.

Roy Campanella, still irked over batting eighth, drove in three runs with two doubles and a home run in Brooklyn's first game victory. He singled in three times at bat in the second game to help inflict the Pirates' fifth loss against no victories.

Stan Lopata's 11th inning home run with a man on base enabled Robin Roberts to win his second game over the Giants' Johnny Antonelli in a week. In the nightcap, Murry Dickson limited the defending champions to two hits.

Spring Odds, 4-2 Phils Over Giants

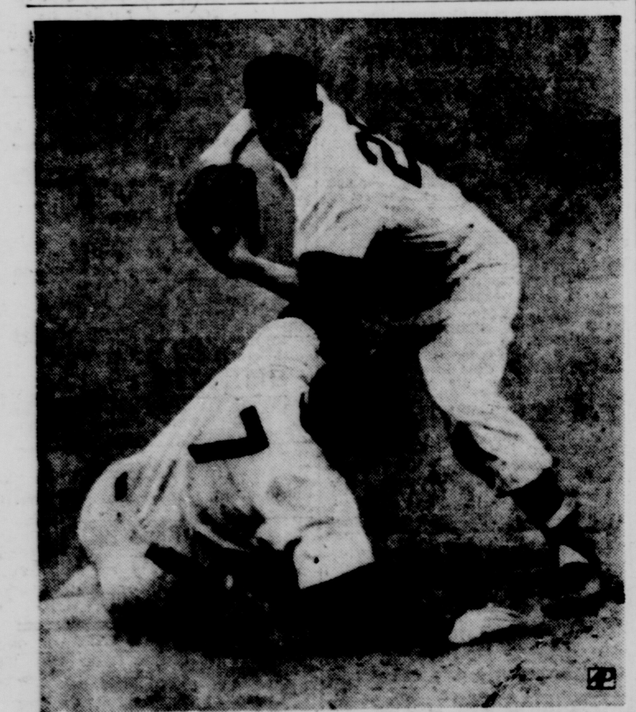
New York, April 18 (AP)—You can't blame the world champion New York Giants if they already are a little tired of the Philadelpnia Phillies and 4-2 scores.

The Giants and Phils have met four times. Three times the Phils have won and each time the score was 4-2, including both games of yesterday's doubleheader. The Giants won the other 8-3.

Yesterday's double loss was the first time the Giants lost a twin bill since Sept. 7, 1953.

Ace of Aces

Kansas City, April 18 (AP)—William Pesmer got a 280-yard hole-in-one on the Oakwood Golf course yesterday, but it was somewhat like a billiards shot. His drive stopped 15 yards off the green. Then Ernest Piser, in the same foursome, teed off. Piser's ball hit Pesmer's ball and knocked it into the par 4 hole.



MANTLE FORCED—Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees is forced at second base as Washington Senators' Bob Kline tags bag before getting off his throw to first in unsuccessful effort to double up Yogi Berra in first inning at Washington (April 17). Berra hit an infield roller to first baseman Mickey Vernon of the Nats, who tossed to Kline for force on Mantle. Washington won, 7-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Jameson Sets Tourney Record

Beaumont, Tex., April 18 (AP)—Betty Jameson, the San Antonio miss who's been winning golf championships 20 years, led the gals of the links toward Carrollton, Ga., today and the next stop on the winter tour.

She had a check for $1,000, the reward for winning the $5,000 Babe Zaharias Open with a record score.

MISS JAMESON, the graying Texas veterans, played an easy round of 1-over-par 74 yesterday to win the Zaharias Open by eight strokes. Her 210 was the record for the 54-hole tournament over the 6,219-yard Beaumont Country Club course. It was nine strokes under par.

Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., the leading money-winner among the women players for the year, wound up second and made $700 in the Zaharias Open. She had a 72 for 218.

PITCHING — Murry Dickson, Philadelphia Phillies — Limited the New York Giants to two singles as the Phillies defeated the New York Giants 4-2 in the second game of a doubleheader.

Brooklyn Lass Leads Singles In State Meet

Albany, April 18 (AP)—A Brooklyn secretary scored better than 600 yesterday for the first time in her 10 years of bowling and took over first place in the Class A singles division of the New York State Woman's Bowling Assn. tournament.

The record of 655 was set in 1949 by Mary Schaeffer of New York city.

At the annual meeting Saturday, Mrs. Iolia Lasher of Albany was elected to her 24th term as president. Mrs. Ann K. Happel of Poughkeepsie was chosen sergeant at arms.

Snead Cops 5th Greensboro Open

The slamming man from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who won the inaugural tournament here in 1938, came through with a last hole birdie yesterday to take his fifth Greensboro tournament.

SAM NEEDED a lucky bounce to the fringe of the green after apparently missing his second shot, but he got it. Then he chipped up to about 18 inches for the birdie four he needed to edge Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Julius Boros, of Southern Pines, N. C. by one stroke with a 273 total.

Wall, leader through the first three rounds, just missed his birdie try from five feet and had to settle for $1,335 in his second place deadlock with Boros. Snead earned $2,200 in the $12,500 event.

Jameson Sets Tourney Record

Beaumont, Tex., April 18 (AP)—Betty Jameson, the San Antonio miss who's been winning golf championships 20 years, led the gals of the links toward Carrollton, Ga., today and the next stop on the winter tour.

She had a check for $1,000, the reward for winning the $5,000 Babe Zaharias Open with a record score.

MISS JAMESON, the graying Texas veterans, played an easy round of 1-over-par 74 yesterday to win the Zaharias Open by eight strokes. Her 210 was the record for the 54-hole tournament over the 6,219-yard Beaumont Country Club course. It was nine strokes under par.

Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., the leading money-winner among the women players for the year, wound up second and made $700 in the Zaharias Open. She had a 72 for 218.

CAST UPSTREAM WITH SPIN-TACKLE

THE DOWNSTREAM CAST MAY BE FINE WITH LIGHTWEIGHT LURES IN SHALLOW WATER, OR HEAVY LURES IN SLOW, DEEP HOLES. OTHERWISE, UPSTREAM CASTS WILL USUALLY TAKE MORE FISH.

AN UPSTREAM CAST WORKS LURES DEEPER BECAUSE THEY SINK WITH THE CURRENT, INSTEAD OF WORKING AGAINST IT TO SUSPEND THEM AT MEDIUM DEPTHS. RETRIEVE JUST FAST ENOUGH TO AVOID SNAGGING.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

BATTING — Al Kaline, Detroit Tigers—Hammered three home runs—two of them in the sixth inning, to tie a major league record—and a single to drive in six runs as the Tigers trounced the Kansas City Athletics 16-0.

PITCHING — Murry Dickson, Philadelphia Phillies — Limited the New York Giants to two singles as the Phillies defeated the New York Giants 4-2 in the second game of a doubleheader.

Larger Than Male

The female falcon, like all in the group of diurnal birds of prey, is larger than the male, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Brooklyn Lass Leads Singles In State Meet

Albany, April 18 (AP)—A Brooklyn secretary scored better than 600 yesterday for the first time in her 10 years of bowling and took over first place in the Class A singles division of the New York State Woman's Bowling Assn. tournament.

The record of 655 was set in 1949 by Mary Schaeffer of New York city.

At the annual meeting Saturday, Mrs. Iolia Lasher of Albany was elected to her 24th term as president. Mrs. Ann K. Happel of Poughkeepsie was chosen sergeant at arms.

Double Pick

Buffalo, April 18 (AP)—When surgeons last week removed the appendix of Robert W. Smith, 66, they found it contained a toothpick. The patient said he had been bothered by stomach pains about two years but did not remember swallowing the object.

Snead Cops 5th Greensboro Open

The slamming man from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who won the inaugural tournament here in 1938, came through with a last hole birdie yesterday to take his fifth Greensboro tournament.

SAM NEEDED a lucky bounce to the fringe of the green after apparently missing his second shot, but he got it. Then he chipped up to about 18 inches for the birdie four he needed to edge Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Julius Boros, of Southern Pines, N. C. by one stroke with a 273 total.

Wall, leader through the first three rounds, just missed his birdie try from five feet and had to settle for $1,335 in his second place deadlock with Boros. Snead earned $2,200 in the $12,500 event.

Boom Backtalk

Miami, Fla. (AP)—They tell this story about the late Wilson Mizner, noted wit, during the Florida boom of the '20s when Wilson and his brother Addison were promoting real estate at Boca Raton: A purchaser hauled Mizner into court on a charge of misrepresentation, and told the jury, "He told me I could grow nuts on the land." "I said he could go nuts on the land," Mizner defended.

Clue To Vanished Warship Gained Through Want Ad

By placing Classified Ads in German newspapers in 1952, Desmond Wettern, of Oxted, Surrey, England, gained a clue to the British cruiser Sydney, which vanished off Australia in 1941. His ad brought word from Theodor Detmers, captain of the sunken German raider, Kormoran, that he had an account of the battle between the Sydney and his ship.

WANT-AD WONDERS Trade Mark

Clue To Vanished Warship Gained Through Want Ad

By placing Classified Ads in German newspapers in 1952, Desmond Wettern, of Oxted, Surrey, England, gained a clue to the British cruiser Sydney, which vanished off Australia in 1941. His ad brought word from Theodor Detmers, captain of the sunken German raider, Kormoran, that he had an account of the battle between the Sydney and his ship.

Marlborough Man Injured in Mishap

Herman Linger, 25, of Marlborough was injured about 4:30 a. m. Sunday when the automobile he was driving ran off Route 9W, struck 10 guard rail posts and split a utility pole near Milton, state police reported.

Troopers said Linger was treated at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie for lacerations of the face, right upper arm and right leg. The automobile, a 1955 model, was demolished, according to the state police report. Linger was riding alone at the time, troopers said.

Reports from Poland indicate that artificial eyes are on the black market, sailors bringing them in are selling them for high prices.

Trooper Injured In Making Arrest

State Trooper Joseph Franke of the Highland station received a torn cartilage in his knee when a man he was placing under arrest "turned on him" Saturday evening, state police reported.

Facing three charges as a result of the incident is Robert Hargroves, 36, of Marlborough.

Troopers Franke and Harold Gansş made the arrest after it was reported that Hargroves damaged a door at a Marlborough residence in atempting to gain entry, state police said.

CHARGES OF public intoxication, malicious mischief and third degree assault were placed against Hargroves, who was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Fred C. Woolsey. Innocent pleas were entered and Hargroves was committed to jail for hearing later this afternoon.

After receiving treatment for his knee injury, Trooper Franke was placed on sick leave, it was reported at the state police barracks this morning.

Used as 'Cover,' Corsi Charges in Department Case

Washington, April 18 (AP) — Edward Corsi, ousted State Department adviser, says he thinks a department official tried to use him "as a piece of window dressing" to cover up what Corsi terms bad handling of the refugee relief program.

Corsi said yesterday he believes R. W. Scott McLeod, the department's administrator of the program, "thought he could have me as a smokescreen, as a piece of window dressing, so I might appeal to large groups of people who believe as I do."

Interviewed on a CBS television program, Corsi said McLeod "is thoroughly unfit to run this program."

A-SENATE judiciary subcommittee is looking into Corsi's charges that McLeod and others were "sabotaging" the emergency program to admit aliens outside the regular immigration quotas.

Corsi repeated a belief that he was fired 10 days ago because of attacks made on him by Rep. Walter (D-Pa.). McLeod testified Friday that Corsi was ousted because he assumed too much authority, not because of Walter's statements.

Walter has accused Corsi of joining organizations later labeled as subversive. Corsi denies this and the State Department has said security matters were not a factor in his firing.

CORSI SAID "high paid public relations men around McLeod" have been circulating "little whispering fairy tales" about him. He said one of these was a published report that he had planned to bring in a boatload of Italian immigrants, hoping to gain publicity so he could run for the Senate in New York next year.

Corsi, a Republican, said he had no such political plans.

In another weekend interview, Corsi contradicted testimony that McLeod asked him on March 16 to resign. Corsi said McLeod "deliberately misled" the subcommittee in his testimony to this effect.

Public hearings are expected to resume Wednesday with McLeod again on the stand. Corsi will be heard later.

Marlborough Man Injured in Mishap

Herman Linger, 25, of Marlborough was injured about 4:30 a. m. Sunday when the automobile he was driving ran off Route 9W, struck 10 guard rail posts and split a utility pole near Milton, state police reported.

Troopers said Linger was treated at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie for lacerations of the face, right upper arm and right leg. The automobile, a 1955 model, was demolished, according to the state police report. Linger was riding alone at the time, troopers said.

Trooper Injured In Making Arrest

State Trooper Joseph Franke of the Highland station received a torn cartilage in his knee when a man he was placing under arrest "turned on him" Saturday evening, state police reported.

Facing three charges as a result of the incident is Robert Hargroves, 36, of Marlborough.

Troopers Franke and Harold Ganss made the arrest after it was reported that Hargroves damaged a door at a Marlborough residence in atempting to gain entry, state police said.

CHARGES OF public intoxication, malicious mischief and third degree assault were placed against Hargroves, who was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Fred C. Woolsey. Innocent pleas were entered and Hargroves was committed to jail for hearing later this afternoon.

After receiving treatment for his knee injury, Trooper Franke was placed on sick leave, it was reported at the state police barracks this morning.

Used as 'Cover,' Corsi Charges in Department Case

Washington, April 18 (AP) — Edward Corsi, ousted State Department adviser, says he thinks a department official tried to use him "as a piece of window dressing" to cover up what Corsi terms bad handling of the refugee relief program.

Corsi said yesterday he believes R. W. Scott McLeod, the department's administrator of the program, "thought he could have me as a smokescreen, as a piece of window dressing, so I might appeal to large groups of people who believe as I do."

Interviewed on a CBS television program, Corsi said McLeod "is thoroughly unfit to run this program."

A SENATE judiciary subcommittee is looking into Corsi's charges that McLeod and others were "sabotaging" the emergency program to admit aliens outside the regular immigration quotas.

Corsi repeated a belief that he was fired 10 days ago because of attacks made on him by Rep. Walter (D-Pa.). McLeod testified Friday that Corsi was ousted because he assumed too much authority, not because of Walter's statements.

Walter has accused Corsi of joining organizations later labeled as subversive. Corsi denies this and the State Department has said security matters were not a factor in his firing.

CORSI SAID "high paid public relations men around McLeod" have been circulating "little whispering fairy tales" about him. He said one of these was a published report that he had planned to bring in a boatload of Italian immigrants, hoping to gain publicity so he could run for the Senate in New York next year.

Corsi, a Republican, said he had no such political plans.

In another weekend interview, Corsi contradicted testimony that McLeod asked him on March 16 to resign. Corsi said McLeod "deliberately misled" the subcommittee in his testimony to this effect.

Public hearings are expected to resume Wednesday with McLeod again on the stand. Corsi will be heard later.

Seventh Suicide Found Saturday In Dutchess Jail

The seventh suicide since 1949 in Poughkeepsie's city jail has prompted Mayor Stevens to ask the Common Council tonight to provide protection, according to sources in Poughkeepsie today.

The mayor issued his statement after Alexander McBride, a 65-year-old unemployed man with no home, was found hanged in a Poughkeepsie jail cell at 3:15 p. m., Saturday, a little more than three hours after being booked on a petty larceny charge.

Police Chief Martin, after an investigation, said he had "found no indication of any neglect by anyone." He said the city had "complied with all requirements of the State Department of Correction and even taken extra precautions."

Summer Licensees Get Supervision Warning

The New York State Liquor Authority has issued a bulletin to summer licensees cautioning them on adequate supervision of their premises to preclude Alcoholic Beverage Contral Law violations.

Thomas E. Rohan, chairman of the Authority, said in his message to the summer licensees, "You have incurred the obligation of conducting your licensed premises in a manner consistent with the provisions of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law."

Continuing, Mr. Rohan said: "Inasmuch as summer licensed premises are generally located in vacation resort areas, it is likely that your premises will be frequented by transient vacationers, whose behavior habits are unknown to you and your employes. You are hereby cautioned that you should take appropriate steps to insure adequate supervision of your licensed premises at all times, in order to preclude any violations occurring thereon. Your failure to do so will necessarily subject your license to disciplinary measures by this Authority."

Belligerent Rats

Campbell, Ohio (AP)—Councilman Frank Reichard, after hearing complaints about rats at the city dump, went down to the dump himself. He reported to his fellow councilmen that a big rat attacked him, forcing him to flee from some distance before he finally was able to kill it with a stone. After Reichard's experience, the city started scattering rat poison on the dump.

Seventh Suicide Found Saturday In Dutchess Jail

The seventh suicide since 1949 in Poughkeepsie's city jail has prompted Mayor Stevens to ask the Common Council tonight to provide protection, according to sources in Poughkeepsie today.

The mayor issued his statement after Alexander McBride, a 65-year-old unemployed man with no home, was found hanged in a Poughkeepsie jail cell at 3:15 p. m., Saturday, a little more than three hours after being booked on a petty larceny charge.

Police Chief Martin, after an investigation, said he had "found no indication of any neglect by anyone." He said the city had "complied with all requirements of the State Department of Correction and even taken extra precautions."

Summer Licensees Get Supervision Warning

The New York State Liquor Authority has issued a bulletin to summer licensees cautioning them on adequate supervision of their premises to preclude Alcoholic Beverage Contral Law violations.

Thomas E. Rohan, chairman of the Authority, said in his message to the summer licensees, "You have incurred the obligation of conducting your licensed premises in a manner consistent with the provisions of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law."

Continuing, Mr. Rohan said: "Inasmuch as summer licensed premises are generally located in vacation resort areas, it is likely that your premises will be frequented by transient vacationers, whose behavior habits are unknown to you and your employes. You are hereby cautioned that you should take appropriate steps to insure adequate supervision of your licensed premises at all times, in order to preclude any violations occurring thereon. Your failure to do so will necessarily subject your license to disciplinary measures by this Authority."
